Officials Check Schools For Presence Of Asbestos

An assistant superintendent of schools says there are no safety hazards in the schools although asbestos inspections are taking place. Assistant Superintendent of operations Francis Paul said the inspections should be complete by the end of the month.

"We don't have any situation now that's an imminent threat to occupants in any buildings," Paul said.

The schools are being surveyed in compliance with a federal regulation, the Asbestos Hazard Emergency Response Act of 1986, which says that all schools in the country have to be inspected, Paul said. Asbestos has been linked to cancer cases.

Hall Kimbrall, a specialist in environmental management, is in the process of making the survey and analyzing the asbestos situation in the buildings, Paul said. They will inspect classrooms after school hours and will not disrupt daily school activities, he added.

When completed, the report will be submitted to the state for approval. Once the state gives the go-

Five Bus Companies Vie For State Subsidy

By Frank Messina

Five bus companies are seeking to replace the recently-deposed Merrimack Transportation Co. as the recipient of a state subsidy for providing commuter bus service between the Merrimack Valley and Boston.

Several are familiar names to local bus riders.

Trombly Motor Coach of Dracut and the Merrimack Valley Regional Transit Authority currently operate school pickup and public transit services in Andover and throughout the area. Michaud Bus Lines of Salem, Mass., has run commuter business in Haverhill, while the Smith Co. provides a wide range of bus services out of nearby Plaistow, N.H.

The fifth firm, Brighton-based Crystal Transport, is a motor coach tour business seeking to expand its operations in public transit.

The Merrimack Valley-to-Boston run, which serves about 600 passengers daily during the week, has become attractive because the route is subsidized by the Massachusetts Bay Transit Authority, say company officials from each firm interviewed.

Merrimack Transportation, before it was stripped of the subsidy last month, received just over $204,000 annually from the state.

However, on Sept. 9, the Everett-based bus company announced it would be scaling back service on all non-rush hour runs. The MBTA reacted quickly, telling Merrimack they had breached their contract with the state and were in danger of losing the subsidy.

After six weeks of negotiations failed to bring an agreement over a new bus schedule, the MBTA advertised in area newspapers for a replacement.

An MBTA spokesman said the state agency is looking for a firm that would provide good evening and weekend service in addition to maintaining the bread-and-butter commuter runs.

Several of the bus companies applying said they'd be able to maintain non-peak hour service, but the MBTA would need to support the extra expense.

"In our bid, we reflected what it would cost to run weekend service," said Gig Michaud, president of Michaud Bus Lines. "Weekend service is a major loser; most of the subsidy goes to running it."

Frank Trombly, owner of Trombly Motor Coach, which sold the Boston route to Merrimack in 1985, before the state stepped in with cash assistance, said the route was a loser without the subsidy.

"The money coming from the MBTA takes the load off commuter work," said Trombly. "In '85, we were going broke."

But $200,000 annually is still not enough to support off-hour service, said Trombly.

Although "we did it before and gladly accept the fact there should be night, Saturday and Sunday service," Trombly feels that "if you go right at that figure, you're going to lose money if you do the weekend stuff."

Still, Michaud feels his firm has an excellent chance of winning the bid.

Michaud Bus Lines owns over 100 buses and has a good reputation in all phases of its operations, which include school and public transportation in the Salem and Peabody areas, tour and charter work and bus sales, said Michaud.

"Jim O'Leary (MBTA operations manager) knows we can keep a schedule without a hitch," said Michaud. "He knows our equipment is good and our management is strong. We should have a very strong chance of running this operation."

Steve Gadd of the Smith Co., which operates Timberlane Transportation in New Hampshire, said the odds are "very good" his company

Andover High Plans Holly Ball

The Holly Ball, a semiformal dance, will be held at Andover High School Saturday, Dec. 10, from 8 to 11:30 p.m.

It is open to all high school students, grades nine to 12, and dates are not required. Tickets purchased on or before Dec. 8 include a corsage and are $10. After that date, tickets are $15 and do not include flowers.

A disc jockey will provide the entertainment, and a Chinese food buffet will be served.

All classes are helping plan the event. The senior class is in charge of tickets; the juniors are responsible for decorations; and the sophomore class is taking care of food arrangements. The freshmen are sponsoring a poster contest. Entries are due Dec. 1, and the winner will receive a free ticket to the dance.

Master Plan Meeting Scheduled

Members of the Andover Planning Board will meet with the North Street Neighborhood Association on December 5 to discuss the town's master plan and planning issues. The public meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the School Committee Conference Room of the School Office Building, second, floor, Whittier Street entrance. If you have any comments or questions and are unable to attend, contact Laura Hill, Department of Community Development and Planning.

Doherty Hosts Evening of Carols

Doherty Middle School and the Doherty Parent Advisory Council will once again sponsor their evening of holiday caroling in the park, as a free event for the families of Andover, on Monday, Dec. 19 at 7 p.m.

The organizers say they want to make the evening a tradition. Doherty students have raised funds to provide "treats" for the small children who attend, as well as free hot cocoa and doughnuts for everyone. Of course, Santa Claus will be there as well.

Meetings At Halfway Mark

Life on the road continues for planning department officials.

Tuesday and Wednesday nights, when planners met with the Friends of Shawsheen and Housing Partnership Committee, it marked the halfway point of their on-going series of one-to-one meetings with town civic groups.

The mission: to discuss the town master plan and gather input from townspeople to help update the docu-

The two groups represented organizations number six and seven on a list of 11. The final event of the series will be a public forum scheduled for Dec. 13 in the West Middle School Auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

The public is also invited to attend any of the meetings scheduled before the forum. For further information contact Laura Hill in the Planning Department at Town Hall.

Parking Ban To Begin

The Andover Police Department reminds town residents that the all-night parking ban will go into effect Thursday, Dec. 1, at 1 a.m. Vehicles parked on the street between 1 a.m. and 6 a.m. will be tagged. Vehicles will not be allowed to park overnight in any of the town municipal lots or on any school property. Any vehicle that hinders snow plowing or removal will be towed. This ban will remain in effect until April 1, 1989.

New Manager

The Board of Selectmen on Nov. 21 approved Steven Ernst of Andover to be the new manager of the Andover Country Club.

Building Reports Due

The Andover School Committee will meet Tuesday, Dec. 6 at 7:30 p.m. in the School Committee Conference Room.

Building assessment reports from the community will be presented at the meeting.

Elected

Allison Misenti, of Andover, a student at New Hampshire Vocational Technical College, Laconia, N.H., has been elected treasurer of the student senate for the 1988-'89 academic year.

Awarded Art Colony Residency

Steven Mulvey

Steven Mulvey has been notified of his acceptance for a residency at the MacDowell Colony for the Winter/Spring 1989 season.

A sculptor, Mulvey's submission to the admissions panel included works in cast bronze, aluminum and wood.

The MacDowell Colony was established early in this century as a memorial to the composer, Edward MacDowell, on his estate in Peterborough, NH. Composers, writers, visual artists and film-makers are invited for a period of residency which includes room and board and the use of private studio space. In an atmosphere free from the distractions and pressures of everyday life, the artist has the opportunity to concentrate on the process of creation and to draw inspiration from the beauty of the surroundings.

There have been more than 3,000 artists at the Colony over its eighty years of existence, including such divers talents as: Milton Avery, James Baldwin, Stephen Vincent Benet, Leonard Bernstein, Willa Cather, Aaron Copland, Jules Feiffer, Frances Fitzgerald, Max Frankel, Arthur Kopit, Edwin Arlington Robinson, Sara Teasdale, Studs Terkel, Alice Walker, Alec Waugh and Thornton Wilder. Although many of those admitted are already established in their fields, each year some young unknown artists are selected as Fellows based on their talent and the promise of their early work.

Mulvey, 25, graduated from Andover High School and received a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree from Rhode Island School of Design. Some of his paintings and sculpture were exhibited locally in 1987 at the Unitarian Universalist Church of Andover. He is the son of Donald and Nancy Mulvey of High Plain Road.

Holiday Open House Sunday

By Virginia Lopez Begg

The Andover Historical Society will ring in the festive season with its annual holiday open house on Sunday, Dec. 4, from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. The public is invited to this special event which features seasonal refreshments and entertainment by bell ringers from the South Church under the direction of Keith Gould.

The historic Amos Blanchard House, headquarters of the society, will be decked with holiday arrangements created by members of the Andover Garden Club, led by Marilyn Swain. Natural materials like rose hips, pine cones and greenery will lend a glow to the antique furniture and art, burnished by time, in the rooms of the old Andover home.

At Christmas time, the society brings out any objects from its collections which do not belong to the Amos Blanchard family's 1820-40 period. Toys are a special favorite. Nineteenth century dolls, trains, wooden animals and miniature furniture enhance the holiday feeling. Most of these treasured playthings have an Andover association.

Visitors will have the opportunity to tour the house and barn museum as well as view the current exhibits about Andover women and Andover and the Constitution. The society's 1989 calendar, brimming with photographs of old Andover, will be for sale along with walking tour brochures, samplers, books, notecards and reproductions of antique maps.

The Andover Historical Society, accredited by the American Association of Museums, is a non-profit, educational institution open to members and the public. For information on open hours, programs and membership, call the society office between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Chanukah Celebration For Elders

Chanukah, the festival of lights, will be celebrated at the Lawrence Jewish Community Center on Haverhill Street for senior citizens on Monday, Dec. 5, at 12:15 p.m.

A dairy luncheon with the customary potato latkes will be served. The dinner is catered by Ted Rudnitsky. Iris and Ofer will provide entertainment along with an orchestra for dancing or just listening to. Mr. and Mrs. Larry Smith of Andover will sponsor this Chanukah party in memory of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Baker and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kimell.

Smith is a past president of the community center and has always had an interest in serving the people of the community.

For the past seven years the Lawrence Jewish Community Center senior citizens have donated gifts to St. Ann's orphanage. A presentation of these gifts will be made to the school's director at the party.

The Excitement Of Recycling

By Virginia Cole

There was a sense of excitement in the air at the glass and plastic bin on Nov. 19. Though our glass recyclers have always been most faithful, there is something about getting plastic and all those mysterious chemicals that we just feel must be polluting something, out of the waste stream. Whether the harmful part goes up the smokestack at the incinerator, or whether it remains in the ash of the material that is burned and therefore is buried in a landfill, most of us just don't know. We just don't want to pollute. And now it can be safely given to Andover Recycling who will see that it is made into useful non-biodegradable products like materials that can be used for fences. In fact, you can see such a fence right here in Andover at the Duxbury's on Hidden Road. It really does happen.

So keep saving your milk cartons, yogurt containers, detergent bottles, all plastic food containers and bring them to us on Dec. 17.

We have something else exciting to talk about this week. (And then I promise to get back to serious facts and figures from FORBES magazine and others next week).

Greg Berneir is the excitement.

If you remember, I told you we had sex appeal at the glass and plastic bin. Well, we have it on the recycling truck too.

Greg is the owner and driver of the Recycling Truck. He grew up in Wellesley, lives in Lynnfield, owns his own business and drives up and down all your streets every other week looking for your paper. He seldom misses any and if he does, a call by you to Town Hall will bring him back cheerfully to pick it up. Please don't hide the paper though. The rules say that he can start wherever he wants to on your trash day by 7 a.m. The paper should not be placed near the trash but on the other side of the driveway. You can figure that out; trash on the right as you walk towards the street and recyclables on the left. Or the other way around if you prefer, but not both on the same side. A cheerful wave and a smile for Greg would be much enjoyed. I'm sure he'd like to stop and talk but probably can't unless you have a cup of coffee at the curb. Among the things he might tell you if he could take the time to talk is that he thinks almost half the houses in town are recycling paper now; that he likes to get notes from our treasurer, Barbara Swift and that John Lewis at town hall seldom has a complaint about his work. Greg has time to go with us to meetings and to help negotiate the price of paper with us. He really is the key to a good program.

Am I asking too much now? Recycle paper and wave to Greg; recycle glass and plastic and come talk to Dave. Oh, yes, you are supposed to call me up too and offer to help those who are home bound. Good deeds are supposed to multiply.

To Host Silent Auction

The Andover Village Nursery School, at their new home on 6 Locke St., will be filled not only with books, toys, music and children, but also with tables laden with homemade goods and descriptions of unique services for the annual silent auction on Tuesday, Dec. 6, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. The auction will raise money for the school and, hopefully, for a needy child who wishes to enroll in the school. Some of the items donated include Christmas ornaments, baked goods, baby clothing, stuffed bear clothing, designer children's clothing, homemade wreaths, computer lessons and a free night of babysitting. A raffle ticket will win a chance on a child's wooden bookcase or a quilt. Bidding will begin at 8 p.m. sharp.

The Andover Village Nursery School is a cooperative nursery school. The parents serve an important part in the school's day-to-day functioning. Parents assist in the classroom, on field trips, in fundraising and other activities. One underlying principle of the school is to foster a sense of the fun and satisfaction people can get from working together and helping one another. A work party was scheduled in October to erect a swing set and spruce up the outside play area.

The parents and children take great pride in the school and its teachers. Preschoolers thrive and grow in a caring and nurturing atmosphere. The school provides this environment and has several openings for four-year-olds in their four-day program. Mrs. G. Deyermund, membership chairman, is available to answer questions.

AHS Graduates Attending Dartmouth

Two 1988 Andover High School graduates, Aleke Msumba and Kellyann MacLean, were among the 1,093 freshman matriculated at Dartmouth College.

The freshman class has students from 45 states, the District of Columbia and 21 foreign countries.

Msumba, son of Cameron and Janet Msumba of Sheridan Road, was a member of the student council and the varsity track team at Andover High.

MacLean, daughter of Gregory and Elaine MacLean of Will-O-Way and Donna Reissfelder of Braintree, was active in student council and a recipient of a Harvard Book Award.

Child Care Program Active

Turkey hats, string art, pine cone turkeys and Indian necklaces all are activities that the children at the YMCA School Age Program at Faith Lutheran Church have been doing to help get into the holiday spirit.

Danielle Vacarr's creative two-foot high turkey hat was voted by staff and children as the most creative, largest and most imaginative. Justin Coppola has been enjoying spin art and Adam Luther's paper snakes have added color to the program.

On Nov. 10 and 11, the children got involved in a Dance-A-Thon with Chris Dri-zen and Maura McDonald as winners.

One of the most detailed projects of the month was a puppet theater and play.

Producer and Director was Ryan McAlary. he was assisted by Harry Carvalho and Bobby Piskadlo. The children made a theater, all the puppets, script and scenery.

The YMCA School Age Child Care Program meets at the Faith Lutheran Church from the time elementary school gets out until 6 p.m. Programs are offered on half-days of school (Dec. 1 & 6) also.

For further information on these Programs, parents should contact Cathy Dawson, YMCA Youth Program Director at the Andover-North Andover YMCA or Stacey Murphy, Faith Lutheran Site Director.

Children's Programs At Library

There are just two weeks left in the Memorial Hall Library Films-on-Friday series for pre-schoolers and their parents.

This week, on Dec. 2, at 10:30 "Frog and Toad Behind the Scenes," "The House That Jack Built," and "Mole & the Umbrella," will be shown.

Next week, on Dec. 9 also at 10:30 a.m., "Little Drummer Boy" and "How the Animals Discovered Christmas," will be presented.

To further enhance enjoyment of the season, the Children's Room is now circulating Chanukah and Christmas books and records and for those who are looking for gift suggestions a list of "Children's Books to Give, Share & to Keep" is now available.

Tucker To Visit European Parliament

Representative Sue Tucker has been awarded a fellowship to participate in the 1989 European Community's Visitor's Program. The Visitor's Program is sponsored by the European Parliament for the purpose of fostering international understanding of European political, economic and social institutions.

From a competitive application process, 50 individuals each year are selected from several countries to spend three weeks as guests of the European Community. Participants write their own study program and visit two countries in addition to the European Commission in Brussels and the Parliament in Strasbourg.

Representative Tucker plans an intense review of education and environmental policies in several countries. "We hear so much about education reforms in Germany designed to keep the country economically competitive, and I plan to visit their political leaders, schools and teachers to see what they are accomplishing," Tucker said.

She will be meeting with government and industry leaders responsible for environmental protection and energy policy. "Many European countries are far ahead of us in solid waste management through recycling and source reduction. Yet, they are engaged in the same debates over acid rain and radioactive waste disposal in energy production," Tucker noted.

Representative Tucker concluded by assuring her constituents that the program would enhance, not interfere, with her legislative duties. She explained that she selected the month of January to travel because the Legislature is never in session until all the 1989 bills are in print, usually in mid-February. "I am very honored to have this professional opportunity," Tucker stated. "As the European Community moves towards in 1992 economic unification goals, it will be increasingly important for Americans to understand the dynamics and politics of Europe."

Software Company To Locate In Andover Corporate Center

Cabot, Cabot & Forbes announces that Samsung Software America, Inc. has leased 8,000 square feet of space on the first floor of Andover Corporate Center. Project Manager Michael Wilcox represented CC&F in the transaction and Pamela Lebowitz of Century 21 Minute-man handled the negotiations with Mr. Young-Soo Kim, Manager of Administration of Samsung Software.

Samsung Software America, Inc. is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Samsung Semiconductor and Telecommunications Company, whose corporate headquarters is located in Seoul, Korea. The parent company designs, develops and manufactures semiconductor and telecommunications products such as computer systems and facsimiles as well as telephone and communications equipment for world wide distribution. The Andover Corporate Center space will be the first United States office of Samsung Software America Inc. devoted to the research and development of computer systems.

The company found Andover Corporate Center to be a very attractive, well situated site offering excellent access to the area's highly educated labor force.

Aberthaw Construction Co., the construction affiliate of Cabot, Cabot & Forbes, will be handling a five week, ambitious space build-out program for Sam-sung. There will be extensive electrical improvements provided to accommodate the tenant's high capacity computer requirements. Andover Corporate Center was thoughtfully designed to easily fulfill future tenant needs for powerful, high capacity electrical equipment. In the case of the Samsung Software, the electrical capacity required will be twice that of a similar sized user. Having extensive experience in this type of construction, CC&F and Aberthaw were able to confidently commit to a fast-track, build-out timetable in order to meet the tenant's occupancy schedule of November 25th.

"Cabot, Cabot & Forbes' Andover Corporate Center was particularly appealing to us because of its exceptional location and access off Routes 93 and 495, its proximity to other high technology firms and the attractive design and lay-out of the building itself," commented Mr. Young-Soo Kim of Samsung Software America, Inc.

Michael Wilcox, Project Manager for Cabot, Cabot & Forbes said "CC&F takes great pride in our ability to consistently meet or tenants' specific space and electrical requirements in a timely fashion. We were pleased to provide this service to the specifications of our newest client, Samsung Software America, Inc."

Named Division President

S. Jack Herman

S. Jack Herman has been named president of the critical care division of C.R. Bard, Inc.

Herman has served as vice president and general manager of the critical care division since 1985. He was vice president of new product development for USCI from 1984 to 1985 and prior to that was director of the division's new product development from 1982 to 1984.

Before he joined Bard in 1982, Herman held several product development positions, including new products program manager at Cobe Laboratories. He was also associated with the Samsonite Corporation as a process engineer.

Herman is a graduate of the University of Missouri at Rolla with a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering.

He also holds an MBA degree from the University of Colorado. Herman is a member of the Colorado Society of Professional Engineers and the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. He and his wife, Karen, are residents of Andover.

The first year fireworks were used to celebrate the Fourth of July was 1826.

AT OUR SCHOOLS

West Middle Students Find Out Where It's At

"Geography: Passport to the World" provided the theme for a variety of activities celebrating the second annual Geography Awareness Week at West Middle School. Seventh-grade students took part in various events that focused on geography between Nov. 13 and 19.

The week began with the reading of a proclamation from Gov. Michael Dukakis proclaiming the official start of Geography Awareness Week in Massachusetts. Students declared their eligibility for participation by "applying for a passport" from their geography teacher, complete with photograph and vital statistics. Since passports are used as a means of identification for international travelers, the students' passports were their tickets to meeting new people, seeing new places and experiencing new cultures. Carrying it around during the week symbolized an opportunity for learning that reached far beyond the classroom, West staffers said.

Each school day participants had the opportunity to guess two mystery countries posted near their geography classrooms. Clues, such as pictures, maps, stamps, coins and artifacts, were displayed to help with their guesses. Passports were "stamped" with a different sticker for each correct answer.

Students participated in a balloon launch experiment on Wednesday. More than 100 multicolored, helium-filled balloons were simultaneously released at the soccer field. Each student tagged their balloon with a 3-by-5-inch postage-paid reply card sealed in a protective transparent bag. People finding the balloons and/or postcards are requested to note the time, date and location on the card and mail it to the school's social studies department. Returns will be plotted on a map.

Ralph Duncan, Barbara Nicholson and Lester Taylor, seventh-grade geography teachers, said they accomplished their goal of helping to emphasize the importance of geography in today's world to the West community.

West Middle School students launch more than 100 helium-filled balloons tagged with postage-paid cards that people are asked to mail back to the school's social studies department.

The Raytheon people of Andover. Doing America proud.

All in all, there are 6,600 Raytheon employees at Andover. Building the most reliable air defense systems in the world.

So reliable, that this facility has been selected as a "Certified Contractor" by the U.S. Government. It's a unique distinction. It means the U.S. Army has reduced its on-site inspections at Andover.

Because we deliver on schedule.

And we exceed the Army's reliability standards.

The Army has even asked us to write up quality guidelines for other defense contractors.

Stringent quality control is fundamental at Raytheon.

Hiring the best people we can find is fundamental, too. We've found and hired thousands of them in New England.

Thank you, Andover.
You've done us proud.

Planning also began for a special parents' forum to be held after the holidays.

The committee urges all Doherty parents to support the holiday sing-along. Begun last year, the sing-along attracted a good turnout and promises to become a Doherty tradition.

The will be no PAC meeting in December.

Students at West Elementary School are shooting baskets to raise money for people with disabilities in the Boston Celtics-Easter Seal Basketball Shoot-out tomorrow.

Celtics star Kvin McHale is honorary chairman of the event, sponsored annually by Zayre. The program teaches youngsters about disabilities, then gives them a chance to help.

Students sink as many baskets as they can during a three-minute period in the school gym. Each basket earns money pledged by family and friends. The money funds Easter Seal services for people with disabilities.

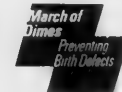

The top basketball shoot-out fund-raisers will receive autographed Celtics' basketballs from McHale at a Boston Celtics game in March. Student winners also receive Celtics t-shirts and Converse athletic shoes and bags.

Last year more than 4,000 students throughout Massachusetts raised $127,000 in basketball shoot-outs, providing the disabled with such Easter Seal services as summer camp, therapeutic swim programs, home health care, physical and occupational therapy, speech therapy, equipment loan, support groups for people recovering from strokes and information and referral services.

FOR 120 YEARS we have been a neighborhood bank committed to the community. We've helped people buy their first home and we've helped people save for their retirement. We are backed by some very incredible employees. People with the experience and caring to serve our customers and much, much more. These same people volunteer many hours of their time and talent to support worthwhile community programs. Programs in 1988 like ...

Easter Seals, Business Education Collaborative, Read Aloud, March of Dimes, Dollars for Scholars, City Wide Science Fair, Friends of the Lawrence Parks, Exchangette Club of Greater Lawrence, Holy Family Hospital, Lawrence Elderly Outreach, Lawrence Strategy, United Cerebral Palsy, Fidelity House, Tenney Preservation, Lawrence Boys Club, Quota Club, Methuen Fair Housing, Boy Scouts of America, Lawrence Neighborhood Housing Services, Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce, United Fund, Centro Pan Americano, Affordable Housing, Northern Essex Association For Retarded Citizens, Pioneers of America, No. Andover Board of Trade, Knights of Columbus, Safety Foundation of Lawrence, North Andover Woman's Club, Lawrence Redevelopment Authority, Bread & Roses Heritage Committee.

These community service programs are just some of the many programs we support. Programs and organizations that make the Merrimack Valley a better place to be. We're here for tomorrow, and tomorrow looks bright.

Doherty PAC Plans December Events

The Parent Advisory Committee of Doherty Middle School met recently to discuss plans for December activities.

Doherty's principal, Dr. Richard McGrail, and housemasters were on hand to update PAC members on the schoolwide magazine drive. According to the administrators, the drive proved an overwhelming success. Forty percent of the funds raised will go directly to improve the school's extracurricular program.

The PAC voted to send a representative to the ASK Team meetings at Andover High School. Jean Russo will attend the next meeting. The focus of the evening was the substance abuse training seminar scheduled for Dec. 14 at the J. Everett Collins Center. This will be the first in a series of ongoing seminars for parents and interested volunteers. The program is an outgrowth of the recent "Drug-Free Schools" convention, attended by McGrail and housemaster Bruce Maki.

The PAC also appointed Joyce Rittershaus and Connie Williamson to the facility study committee, a group that will tour the school building and make any necessary recommendations.

Shore CDS Offers Two Scholarships

Shore Country Day School in Beverly is offering two academically competitive, need-based scholarships to candidates entering grades seven or eight. Continuing on a need basis, these scholarships are contributed toward the tuition for the full extent of the students' years at Shore.

The first test date for applicants will be held Saturday, Jan. 7, at 9 a.m. in the Winslow Building on the school's campus at 545 Cabot St. The second test date will coincide with Shore's regular admissions testing on Monday, Feb. 6, at 9 a.m. in the Lower School building.

Interested students and their families should contact Lee Carey in the admissions office.

Shore Country Day School is an independent, coeducational day school enrolling students in readiness for kindergarten through grade nine. The 402 students come from 37 North Shore communities.

Young Actors Work As Team

By Cathy Allard

Team: a group of people working together toward a common goal.

A team feeling was formed by the actors in Inherit the Wind, the Andover High School Drama Guild play that went on stage last month.

The play, based on actual court transcripts from the so-called "monkey trial" of 1925, pits defense against prosecution and father against daughter in a struggle over their basic beliefs.

Despite the weightiness of the subject matter, the play went off without a hitch, thanks to the camaraderie among the actors. "The kids in this production were the best of any group so far...they worked together like a family," said Bob Lague, director of Inherit the Wind.

"There was a good chemistry between actors," said Heidi Tobias, a junior. Tobias played T. Davenport, assistant to the prosecuting attorney.

What's Going On At Andover High

2:15 After-school House meeting (Room 112)

2:15-3 p.m. Stress reduction workshop (Large Group Room)

Lague said the actors were on stage at all times, and that made them learn "to work and react with each other. This kind of rapport usually comes from a lot of time spent together."

Senior Doug Rogers said the play gave him a chance to "make new friends and become closer to old ones." Rogers played Rev. Brown, the fiery fundamentalist who helps turn public opinion against a local teacher accused of teaching evolution in his classroom.

"This bond the kids have found will take them through high school," Lague said. "It's great."

Lague said some of the seniors in the cast teach the juniors and sophomores a few tricks of the trade. Lague commended the efforts of Rogers, Eric Dahlgren, Neil Fater, Emily Trespas, Caroline Gibson and Mike Barret. "Because of them, we're like a family across four grades," he said.

Allard is an Andover High senior.

BABY TALK

by Jack Resnick

The role of the mother is assumed to be central to the child's personality growth. However, this does not mean that the father does not play an important role in the child's life during the first months after birth. He exerts a great deal of influence on the child's environment. His attitude is reflected from mother to child. If the father is supportive and cooperative, the child will benefit for many reasons. The father who participates in his child's day-to-day routine, will exert tremendous influence on his son's or daughter's world. Men are finding their place in the family, and families are benefitting tremendously as a result.

Pike Teacher Tells Of Other 'Thanks-givings'

Thanks-giving customs are not limited to last week's holiday in the United States, but are also celebrated in other areas of the world. Students at the Pike School recognized customs in Senegal during their end-of-term assembly.

Malick Diankha, a Fulbright exchange teacher from Ziguinchor in the West African nation of Senegal, is on the Pike faculty this year. To honor the customs in rural areas of Diankha's country, students from kindergarten through grade seven created scenes from tribal villages and dressed in Senegalese attire they had made. While seventh-graders read about harvest festival ceremonies, other students illustrated the dances, wrestling parties and offering of crops to the spirits.

The assembly ended with each of the 400 Pike students receiving a bag of peanuts, a principal crop of Senegal. The nuts symbolized things for which people in any country could give thanks, Diankha said.

Dear Mike:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you formally for all the assistance you gave me in making the decision of going from direct mail of our Anniversary Circular to newspaper inserts in your newspaper. Even though you told me on many occasions I would be pleasantly surprised at the results, I was still skeptical, although cautiously optimistic.

The results are in hand. We had very nice increases in all of our stores as a result of using newspapers. I am surprised and very happy the results are as good as they are and look forward to continued success through your newspaper.

I thank you once again for all your input.
Sincerely,

ABOUT OUR PEOPLE

13-Year-Old Pianist Performs At Carnegie Hall

By Julie M. Barry

Appearing in Carnegie Hall is a performer's dream, and 13-year-old Sue Yeun Kim has done just that—several times.

Most recently, Kim, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Kwang Sup Kim of Haskell Road, performed in a Winner's Piano Recital at Carnegie Hall Nov. 12.

While admitting she was a bit nervous, Kim said "it was fun...it was good to get the opportunity to play there."

A freshman at Andover High School, Kim moved to Andover from New Jersey last summer. While in New Jersey, she vied for a title in an annual competition, sponsored by the New Jersey Music Education Council, and captured the first-place title in her age group. This accomplishment led to Kim's performance in the recital at Carnegie Hall.

Getting to first place involved two rounds of preliminary competition. A player either passed or failed, and that distinction determined who moved on to the finals, she said.

Kim performed musical pieces by Beethoven, Schubert and Edward MacDowell in the first round and got the go-ahead to the second round, she said.

The supervisor of the competition chose a test piece to be played in the second round, and Kim said her age group was assigned a piece called "Nocturne" by Chopin.

Six entrants passed and went on to the final round, Kim said. Judges scored performers in this phase of the competition, and Kim placed first with her performance of a Schubert piece, Impromptu.

But it wasn't the first time she'd won this competition. Prior to 1988, Kim had won first place in her age group when she was 8, 10 and 11 years old, she said.

All of those feats qualified her to perform at Carnegie Hall.

A music lover since she can remember, Kim has played the piano for eight years and says she practices one to two hours every day and takes lessons every week.

Though playing the piano take up a great deal of time, it's a hobby and not something she anticipates pursuing professionally, Kim said.

"It's just fun," she said. "I like listening to music, and I like playing the piano."

One of the challenges, she said, is learning to play a musical piece with feeling. "That takes a long time," she said.

While Kim says she doesn't have a favorite song or composer, she said she enjoys trying to play music just like the original artist.

Or, she said, "if they interpret it differently than I do, I play it different and maybe better."

Attorney Wins Large Medical Malpractice Suit

By Julie M. Barry

A case involving a helicopter crash and a $100,000 settlement back in 1976 broke attorney Thomas Kiley into the legal world of personal injury cases.

And that's where he remains today. Working out of a plush office in Marketplace Center in Boston, Kiley still represents plaintiffs in personal injury cases.

Just recently, Kiley won one of the largest medical malpractice settlements in Massachusetts history.

Thomas Kiley

Nearly $10 million was awarded to a former Lowell resident and his wife in October by a Middlesex Superior Court jury.

The settlement was given to the couple for injuries suffered in a 1982 visit to St. Joseph's Hospital in Lowell.

And two weeks ago, $1.7 million was awarded to a Lawrence family for damages caused by a fire in their home due to the explosion of a roach killer, Martin's Mill Spray. Kiley says he proved that the labeling of the product didn't address the hazards associated with its use.

Kiley, an eight-year Andover resident, specializes in personal injury cases.

But these aren't your run-of-the-mill cases. Usually, they require a great deal of expertise in a certain area.

Personal injury cases may be the result of malpractice in the medical or legal field or they may be the result of a faulty product. Whatever the situation may be, the cases Kiley takes require a lot of research—including professional consultation and depositions.

And to prepare for a trial, Kiley employs a graphic artist who designs elaborate displays for the courtroom, like color-coded graphs, pictures and video tapes.

It takes three to five years to prepare most of his cases, he says. "I am an entrepreneur," Kiley said. "I take difficult cases that require the input of many hours and usually a large sum of money." Some cases, he said, take hundreds of thousands of dollars to bring to court.

To prepare for a case, Kiley says he has to be as knowledgeable as professionals in a given field, like the manufacturers of Martin's Mill Spray. "It's challenging to become more of an expert at something than those who design a product...I spend a lot of time getting expertise," he said.

This type of specialization makes Kiley's practice unique. About 80 percent of his cases are referrals from other attorneys who "don't have the expertise, financial backing or desire to pursue the case," Kiley said.

He works with a staff of four attorneys and two paralegals. A great deal of time is spent reviewing cases to determine if the firm will represent the plaintiff, Kiley said. For instance, one attorney who works for Kiley specializes in the medical field and is responsible for reviewing about 250 malpractice cases every year. Kiley says he accepts about 15 percent of those cases.

Using his judgment, Kiley determines which cases to accept and which ones to reject. "You develop an instinct from accumulated experience," he said.

Kiley has tried and won numerous cases. In 1984, he represented a woman who was hit by an MBTA trolley in Boston and received the largest jury settlement in Suffolk County at that time—$2.2 million.

To date, his largest victory is a structured settlement worth $26 million from a toy manufacturer for a brain-damaged child. The child will receive the best rehabilitative care and at age 18 will reside in a facility for people who are brain-damaged, Kiley said.

When he wins a case, Kiley receives about one third of the settlement. Difficult and time-consuming cases may involve an even higher percentage return.

But Kiley is not compensated for cases he loses in court. In losing, Kiley said "my biggest disappointment is I haven't been able to provide the economic relief my clients need...it's their only opportunity."

Kiley says he develops a rapport and a close relationship with all of his clients. "I like representing people that are victims in our society, that for the most part don't have the means to do it themselves," he said. "I have tremendous satisfaction when I can restore their economic growth."

Currently, Kiley's firm is involved with several hundred cases. But he says he concentrates on about 15 to 20 at one time—those that are in the final steps of trial preparation and those in the discovery stage.

Associates In Annual Meeting

New England Neurological Associates, P.C. of North Andover held its annual meeting at Northeast Rehabilitation Hospital in Salem, N.H.

Joan T. Faucher, administrator welcomed the doctors, their wives and special guests and gave an update on developments at New England Neurological Associates. Dr. Howard M. Gardner of Andover, president and medical director of NENA, introduced the program "Life after Spinal Cord Injury."

Dr. David Jaeger, director of Northeast Rehab's spinal cord injury program, and Priscilla Vogler, OT, program coordinator, described the intensive rehabilitation process offered at Northeast. "Helping each patient realize his maximum potential is our goal," Jaeger stated. "We aim to restore as much independence and self confidence as possible." Vogler explained the multi-disciplinary approach and how a "team" of rehab. specialists works with each patient.

Maurice LaGarde of Lowell and Doug Ewing, of Kingston, N.H., described their experiences after surgery and during the rehabilitation process. Gardner introduced Richard Fucci, president of the National Spinal Cord Injury Association.

New England Neurological Associates is a group of 23 physicians, seven Ph.D.s and various support personnel that offers a comprehensive array of diagnostic, clinical and restorative services. Founded by Gardner in 1972, the group has grown steadily and has offices throughout the Merrimack Valley.

Named Director At Hospital

Bruce Cook of Andover has been named director of information systems at Worcester Memorial Hospital.

Cook previously served as the director of information systems at Gould electronics in North Andover and as director of information systems for Lawrence General Hospital and Bon Secours Hospital, where he established and maintained a joint computer venture between the two facilities.

He holds a master's degree of business administration from Northeastern University where he also received a bachelor's degree in management.

Pigs were first domesticated more than 5,000 years ago by the Chinese.

Some Faces Are Unforgettable.

Especially this one! Would you like to meet a lump-fish close up? Learn about the plant and marine life of New Hampshire's coastline? Or walk on a nature trail through a salt marsh?

Then pay us a visit. At Seabrook Station's Energy Education Center you'll come face to face with nature.

See native marine life in our aquariums. Explore the ecology of our coastline. Experience wildlife on our mile-long nature trail. Take an animated elevator ride deep below Hampton Harbor's Salt Marsh.

Also discover how nuclear power is generated from talking exhibits and see how electricity gets to your home. Pedal an energy bicycle and light up a bulb. Watch station operators train on our control room simulator (this is an exact duplicate of the real thing). And take a guided bus tour that includes a close-up look at our nuclear reactor building.

Visit our Education Center soon. We're open Tuesday through Friday 10 AM - 4 PM. Admission is free. The thrill of seeing nature close up is priceless.

Representatives of Coldwell Banker and the U.S. Marines kick off a local Toys for Tots campaign. Rosalie J. Bialy of Coldwell Banker and Marine Gunnery Sgt. Robert J. Stokes accept the first toy for needy children from five-year-old Jessica Dewitt of Dracut. Her mother, Debra, looks on.

Groups Aiding 'Toys For Tots'

Local organizations are helping the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve collect toys for needy families.

The Andover offices of the Internal Revenue Service and Coldwell Banker have set up collection boxes for the Marines' "Toys for Tots" program.

You can drop off toys at collection boxes at the IRS entrance, 310 Lowell St., through Dec. 23; and at Coldwell Banker, 68 Park St., through Dec. 20. Donations of new, unwrapped toys for children up to 12 years of age can be dropped off at either site.

Andover residents who would like to contribute, but are unable to visit the Coldwell Banker collection center, may contact the firm, and one of its sales associates will pick up the toy or toys in person.

This marks the 41st year of the Marines' Toys for Tots collection drive, which provides Christmas presents for needy children.

Last year 14,150 toys were collected to give out to 5,600 families in the area. This year the number of families seeking help through the program is expected to increase, according to Marine Corps officials.

"I am delighted that the staff and management have joined this important annual voluntary campaign," said Thomas M. Quinn, director of the IRS Andover center. "We are delighted with the spirit of cooperation that is taking place: labor and management working together internally, business and industry rising to the occasion, entertainment and education all working with the Internal Revenue Service Center to collect local toys for local kids."

"For many children, the magic of the holiday season is only a dream," said Ro-

Hospice Program

The Merrimack Valley Hospice Program is offering a holiday bereavement support group for those who have experienced the death of someone.

Anyone is welcome to attend the free meetings, which will be held Thursday evenings, Dec. 1 and 8 at 7 p.m. at the hospice office, 1 Union St.

For further information, contact Jim Gulla at the office.

Toys

salie Bialy, campaign coordinator of Coldwell Banker's Andover office. "We're hoping to make those holiday dreams come true by collecting toys for children who otherwise would go without them."

The program works like this: requests are made to the Marines and then verified by social workers or welfare case workers. Sponsors like the IRS and Coldwell Banker set up collection sites for toys to be dropped off by community members and picked up by Marines, who sort the donations categories according to age and gender. That's why they ask that the toys be unwrapped. Packages are then put together for each family and distributed.

Toys for Tots started in 1947 at the prompting of Marine Corps Reserve Major William Hendricks. The program began as a local event to aid the orphaned children of World War II. Three weeks before Christmas that year, celebrities and others pitched in to collect nearly 7,000 toys.

In 1948, the Marines officially announced their new public service activity, "Toys for Tots," to be conducted annually throughout the organized Reserve.

This year Danny Thomas is the national chairman of the Toys for Tots campaign.

Representatives from the following companies will visit the IRS to drop off their Toys for Tots donations: ANSC Candlepin Bowling League, Avon, Barron's Country Store, Digital Corp., Finelle Cosmetics, John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co., Pepsi-Cola, Polaroid, Restaura, Textron, U.S. Department of Transportation and Veteran's Benefit Clearing House.

As part of his radio station's effort to help kick off the IRS campaign, Mark Sawyer of WLLH-AM 1400 will be doing a live radio remote inside the Andover Service Center tomorrow from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Across the country, Coldwell Banker residential real estate offices are also participating in the toy drive.

Bialy said each person who makes a donation at the Coldwell Banker office will be registered to win a Sears snowblower, a $100 Sears gift certificate and an electric blanket.

Business Center Under Development

National Development Associates, Inc. (NDAI) has broken ground on Ten New England Business Center, the first building of a 500,000 square foot, first-class office park located on the Merrimack River in the northeast quadrant of River Road and Route 93 in Andover. At the groundbreaking of 10 New England Business Center, John J. O'Neil, III, senior vice president of NDAI, said the three-story, 88,000 square foot building will be the first of four buildings to be constructed in the park and is expected to be completed by June, 1989.

According to Michael Price, assistant vice president of NDAI and project manager for New England Business Center, the park is the result of a sophisticated planning process that has preserved the quality of this picturesque site. "Each of the office buildings is carefully situated to preserve the natural features of the land and to allow panoramic views of the Merrimack River from the offices," said Price.

Center, a jogging path along the Merrimack river, and the Andover Marriott Hotel's guest rooms, restaurants and fitness center.

Business

According to Richard Graham, principal of Fallon, Hines & O'Connor and exclusive leasing agent of New England Business Center, another amenity is the park's location on one of the best sites in the Route 495 region. "New England Business Center is located in the heart of one of the region's fastest-growing corporate environments. The park is just twenty-five minutes north of Boston, one exit beyond the intersection of Interstates 93 and 495, and within fifteen minutes driving time to Route 128 and Route 3," said Graham.

The park's second building, 20 New England Business Center, is slated for completion in October, 1989 and is 100% preleased to Physical Sciences, Inc. an Andover-based research firm.

Newton-based National Development Associates, Inc. is a full-service development firm that has constructed several major mixed-use projects throughout Massachusetts. The company has significant experience in office, industrial, retail and residential development, and provides complete construction and management capabilities. Its subsidiary, Cranshaw Construction, is constructing 10 New England Business Center. New England Business Center is a joint venture with CIGNA Investments, Inc.

Church Fair Scheduled

Christ Church, 25 Central St., Andover, will hold its annual Parish Yuletide Fair Saturday, Dec. 3, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. The fair is noted for its many unique offerings, including handcrafted toys, gifts, wreaths, decorations, homebaked goods and gourmet delights.

Children's author Jeff Kelly will be at the fair from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. His two children's books, Tramp Steamer and the Silver Bullet and The Basement Baseball Club will be available for signing at the new books table. A variety of books carefully selected as gifts suitable for Christmas, confirmations, baptisms and other great occasions will also be available. Shoppers will also find children's books, fiction, travel literature, cookbooks and gardening books chosen from the Andover Book Store.

A model railroad will be displayed in the parish hall. Lunch will be available and freshly made apple cider from an antique cider press will be sold.

Cochairpersons Judy Camber, Debbie Kelley, Louise MacMillan and Mary Robinson have announced that, as always, a portion of the proceeds will be donated to a local, non-profit organization not connected with Christ Church.

Economics

John Kenneth Galbraith, professor of economics at Harvard University, will present "The Great Economic Systems: Capitalism and Socialism in Transition," the 1988 Britannica Award Lecture, Dec. 6 at 8 p.m.

Galbraith will lecture at the ARCO Forum, Institute of Politics, 79 J.F.K. St., Cambridge.

Minkkinen Work Featured

The photography of University of Lowell Professor Arno Minkkinen is regarded with enough respect on the European scene to warrant being featured in exhibits in Paris and Lyon, France, and in Cologne, Germany.

Minkkinen, an Andover resident, has a show running currently at the Viviane Esders gallery in the Montparnasse district of Paris. No less than the Finnish ambassador to France opened Minkkinen's 15 Years in Front of My Lens exhibit last month. The retrospective show, which runs through this month, displays traces of Minkkinen's surreal self-portrait work from 1973 to the present.

The presentation is part of the 1988 Mois De Photo (month of photography) in Paris, a biannual photography festival. The festival is the major international photography event held in Paris in November every two years. A catalogue will be produced.

The ULowell professor's work also will be shown in the Mois de Photo theme exhibit called "Splendor and Misery of the Body," to be held at the Musee D'Art Moderne/City of Paris. The same show was presented this summer at the Musee D'Art et d'Histoire in Fribourg, Switzerland.

His work is also being shown in Selections 4 at Photokina 88 in Cologne. The show is the fourth in a series of biennial exhibits drawn from the International Polaroid Collection. In 1989 the exhibition is scheduled for the Victoria and Albert Museum in London; the Kunsthalle in Hamburg, Germany, and the Museo de Arte Contemporaneo in Caracas, Venezuela. An exhibition catalogue will accompany the show.

Minkkinen also has had the distinction of being featured in a one-man show at the Galerie Vrais Reves in Lyon as part of that city's Octobre Des Arts Festival. The show opened Sept. 27 and ran through Nov. 12.

Vivaldi Program

The South Church music committee will present the Phillips Academy Orchestra and Chorus, directed by William Thomas, in "Music on the Grand Canal," an all-Vivaldi program, in the South Church sanctuary on Saturday, Dec. 3, at 7:30 p.m. The free-will offering will help provide scholarship funds to Phillips' students taking part in the spring tour to Italy. These groups expect to perform on Palm Sunday in one of Vivaldi's churches, Chiesa de Ospedaletto, in Venice.

Choral Arts Group In Concert

The Lawrence Choral Arts Society will present its annual Holiday Concert on Saturday, Dec. 10, at 7 p.m. at St. Anne's Church on Haverhill St. in Lawrence. Under the direction of John Cice, this choral group of sixty members will perform the "Christmas Oratorio" by Camille Saint-Saens and John Rutter's "Gloria". A smaller concert choir, comprised of members of the chorus, will also sing a selection of seasonal favorites, including "The Little Drummer Boy" and "The Christmas Song".

The Lawrence Choral Arts Society will be accompanied by a professional orchestra and the soloists Susan Storey-Frank, soprano, Patricia Kassilke, soprano, Gale Fuller, mezzo-soprano, Mark Kagan, tenor, and David Murray, bass.

Susan Storey-Frank received a Bachelor's degree in Music and French from Smith College and a Masters degree in vocal performance from Northwestern University. In 1985 she was a finalist in the New England Regional Metropolitan Opera Auditions. She has sung recitals at the Gardner Museum, The Boston Athenaeum, and Pickman Music Hall. She played the role of Micaela in "Carmen" and has appeared with the Boston Ballet at the Wang Center in their production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream". Most recently, she has appeared with the original Bach Aria Group in Alice Tully Hall in New York City in May 1988, performing Bach Cantatas.

Patricia Kassilke has been a member of the Lawrence Choral Arts Society for the past four years. She has previously appeared as second soprano in the Bach "Magnificat" and a soloist for the Lawrence Choral Arts Society summer concerts. Her experience ranges from playing Dolly and Mame to character roles in Gilbert and Sullivan as well as light opera and oratorio. She has performed locally with the New Essex Players of Newburyport, the Lawrence Savoyards, Bakers Dozen Performers, Essex County Chorus, and the Andover Choral Society, and was one of the soloists in the first Haverhill "Messiah" Sing. Ms. Kassilke is the soprano soloist at Grace Church in Lawrence.

Gale Fuller is familiar to the Boston area audiences for her many operatic characters, and has sung with the Lawrence Choral Arts Society on many occasions. Her singing is beginning to take her to new cities, and she has recently performed as Rosina in "Barber of Seville" and in the title role of "Carmen". Ms. Fuller was the winner of the prestigious Liederkrantz Competition in New York last year, and in January, she will portray Mere Marie in the Boston Lyric Opera's production of "Dialogue of the Carmelites" and as Charlotte in "Werther" with the Longwood Opera. Ms. Fuller is on the voice faculty at Brandeis University.

Tenor, Mark Kagan, is a graduate of the Hart College of Music and the Boston Conservatory Opera Theatre, and has been a recipient of a Tanglewood vocal fellowship. He has performed in concert with leading Boston ensembles, including the Back Bay Chorale, Boston Cecilia, Boston Classical Orchestra, and the Cantata Singers. As soloist with the early music ensemble, the Boston Camerata, Mr. Kagan appeared throughout New England, in New York, Chicago, and Paris, and recorded for Harmonia Mundi. He is a regular soloist at Boston's Emmanuel Church in their ongoing performances of Bach Cantatas. Mr. Kagan was a soloist with the Lawrence Choral Arts Society last season in their performance of Respighi's "Laud to the Nativity".

David Murray received his Bachelor's and Master of music degrees from the New England Conservatory of Music. His operatic roles include the title roles in "Barber of Seville", "Don Giovanni", and "Gian Schicchi", as well as Marcello in "La Boheme" and John/Tom in "The Face on the Barroom Floor". He has performed with the Boston Lyric Opera, Glimmer Glass Opera, Longwood Opera, and Central City Opera, as well as with the Boston Musica Viva, Boston Academy of Music, and the Denver Symphony. Mr. Murray is a regular soloist at king's Chapel in Boston.

Tickets for this performance will be available at the door on the evening of the concert.

Marriott Courtyard Opens Saturday

Marriott is targeting the Boston area, Massachusetts and New England for major expansion during the next three to five years, with about $200 million in development projected.

The hotel chains involved are three of Marriott's economy and all-suites - according to Paul Novak, Marriott's vice president of lodging development.

Courtyard by Marriott, the lodging giant's moderately priced hotel, opens its first hotel in Massachusetts on Dec. 3 in Andover, a suburb of Boston. Courtyard was recently rated the best hotel in the mid-priced segment in a survey by a major travel trade publication.

A second Boston-area Courtyard is scheduled to open in Foxborough in June 1989, said Lambert, Courtyard vice president of marketing and sales.

"We're looking at a total of eight to 10 hotels in the state over the next three to five years, representing over $100 million of investment," Lambert added. Another site is owned at Westborough, and three sites are under contract at Billerica, Norwood and Stoughton.

Courtyard was rated the best mid-priced hotel according to a survey of 1,113 business travel planners, conducted by Business Travel News. Courtyard ranked first or second in 10 of 11 service-rated categories in the survey, published Nov. 7.

The state's first Residence Inn by Marriott hotel is scheduled to open in Danvers in May 1989. Designed for the extended stay traveler (anyone who must be away from home for five nights or more), the Residence Inn is built like a two-story residential complex.

Fairfield Inn, Marriott's entry into the economy lodging segment, plans eight to 10 inns in the region with concentration in the metropolitan Boston area and southern New Hampshire. The first Boston-area inn will open in January 1990.

"Although we just opened our first inn a little over a year ago in Atlanta, we're so pleased with our success we're planning our expansion into this totally new region," said Robert J. McCarthy, vice-president of marketing for Fairfield Inn.

Fairfield Inn, with only 16 inns currently open in the nation, also garnered first place honors in the economy segment in the Business Travel News survey.

Marriott purchased Residence Inn in 1987. Now located in 35 states with 130 hotels, Residence Inn is expanding nationwide.

"The corporate growth under way in the Boston area translates into a strong potential market for Residence Inn hotels, which caters to travelers on long-term assignment, relocation or training," Novak said. In addition to the Danvers Residence Inn, two other hotels - in Meriden, Conn. and Portland, Maine - under development.

Earlier this year several new Residence Inn hotels opened in New England - in New Haven and Shelton, Conn. and Burlington, Vermont.

Courtyard by Marriott is the corporation's entry into the moderately priced segment, and is now the fastest growing hotel chain in the category in the nation. The Andover Courtyard is one of more than 175 hotels open, under construction or under contract.

Marriott

About $450 to 500 million a year has been committed to national expansion, Lambert said. By the end of this year, 112 Courtyard hotels will be open and plans call for more than 300 open by the early 1990's.

Earlier this year, Courtyard opened its first hotel abroad, in the United Kingdom.

The Courtyard concept is based on extensive research into the preferences of business and pleasure travelers in the mid-priced segment. The hotel is designed with a residential feeling in architecture and landscaping, including a courtyard in the center of the hotel property.

Special features for the business traveler include a large work desk and a telephone extension cord long enough to reach both the desk and the bed. In the Andover area, room rates will be $74 Sunday through Thursday and $48 Friday through Saturday.

Also designed in residential style, Residence Inn hotels are built in two-story clusters around a central gatehouse where guest gather for daily breakfast and social events. Studio and penthouse suites are available, each offering a kitchen with full-sized appliances; many suites also have a working fireplace.

Suites are priced on a sliding scale (averaging $65-80 per night) with price declining as length of stay increases. The price includes continental breakfast, a weekly barbecue and personalized grocery shopping service. In the Business Travel News survey, Residence Inn was the highest rated moderate all-suites product.

Marriott recently announced that the expansion of Fairfield Inn will involve more than $500 million in development nationally over the next five years. The corporation plans to open 30 inns within the next year, with more than 100 inns open by the early 1990's.

In the New England area, several sites are under review, and final negotiations are under way for Massachusetts properties in Lawrence, Foxborough, Weymouth, Danvers and Franklin. Other locations under consideration are Nashua, Manchester and Lebanon in New Hampshire and Burlington, Vermont, McCarthy said.

Fairfield Inns offer Marriott quality rooms at an economy price, averaging $30-40 per night, depending on the area. The design focuses on quality furniture and spaciousness of rooms, with complimentary coffee and tea available in the lobby each morning.

Marriott Corporation is a $6.5 billion company in diversified lodging and food service businesses, based in Washington. The Marriott lodging group includes a total of 441 properties and 116,000 guest rooms in the United States, Canada, Central America, the Caribbean, Europe and the Middle East. Marriott is the largest operator of hotel rooms in America.

Seasonal Concert In Lawrence

The Friends of St. Mary's in Lawrence will present "A Christmas Offering," a seasonal concert performed by the Treble Chorus of New England, with Marie Stultz conducting. The free concert will be held at St. Mary's, 300 Haverhill St., on Saturday, Dec. 3, at 8 p.m. The performance will feature Ceremony of Carols by Benjamin Britten, Cantata by Daniel Pinkham, music by Scheidt, Sweelinck and Gabrielli as well as a carol sing-along.

Accompanying the chorus will be harpist Judith Ross in the Ceremony of Carols and a double brass choir in the Pinkham Cantata. The concert features 45 young people between the ages of 8 and 17, who are members of the Treble Chorus of New England, the well-known professional children's chorus based in the Merrimack Valley.

The concert is funded by a grant from the Lawrence Art Lottery Council and the continuing support of the Massachusetts Council on Arts and Humanities, a state agency.

Chorus Presents 'Messiah'

The Phillips Academy Community Chorus and the Academy Chamber Players will perform a benefit concert of George Frederic Handel's Messiah on Friday evening, Dec. 9, at 7 p.m. in Cochran Chapel on the PA campus. William Thomas, chairman of the academy's music department, will direct the groups.

Thomas said this performance will benefit PA's Dakar Community Service Project, a work project in Senegal, West Africa, and Greater Lawrence Neighbors in Need Inc., an ecumenical community service program to provide basic food items to people in need for any reason without needs testing or assessment.

This year, the Dakar Community Service Project, which PA staff said offers a unique opportunity for American high school students to establish, by donating their labor, a direct connection with an African community, will be involved with building a sanitation system for the schools on Goree Island. PA staffers said it was on the island, a couple of miles into the Bay of Dakar, in the 16th century that the Portuguese (and after them, other Europeans) waited—in the fresh breezes of the sea to escape the ravages of inland malaria—to load their human cargoes of slaves.

Neighbors in Need will enter its sixth year of providing "meals in a bag" from its local food pantries for daily distribution. Neighbors does not judge; the main objective is to respect each person and share what has been given, staff said.

The original performances of Messiah were a series of charity concerts in Dublin, according to Thomas. Handel accepted the invitation to Ireland because he never could resist a genuine appeal made in a good cause, Thomas said. He said Handel's life was marked by constant acts of generosity, even in times of personal adversity. The Society for Relieving Prisoners, the Charitable Infirmary and Mercer's Hospital were the charities that benefited from the initial performances.

Thomas said Handel was greeted in Dublin by enormous enthusiasm. People who had bought tickets for the first performance were invited to a public rehearsal. Thomas said the rehearsal inspired public relations: publicity on the concert asked that women come without the hoops that made dresses billow so fashionably, and men were asked to leave off their swords.

The PA chorus is made up of academy faculty and staff from the music and other departments and also friends from other music circles in the community. The chamber orchestra is comprised of professional musicians from the North Shore area.

Food donations beyond the general admission would be appreciated.

Orchestra Performs Music Across The Centuries

Holiday music from four centuries will be featured in the annual December concert by the Merrimack Valley Philharmonic Orchestra on Sunday, Dec. 11, at Sacred Heart Church, 321 S. Broadway, Lawrence, at 2:30 p.m. Tickets will be available at the door.

Conductor and musical director George Monseur has selected a variety of music of popular and sacred styles, featuring the entire orchestra, the choir of Sacred Heart Church, a Baroque string ensemble, trumpet duet, soloist Terry Morgan and Christmas carol sing-along.

Philharmonic string players Domenico Teoli, Majorie Nelson, Joy Schuetz and harpsichordist Carl McAilley will play Guiseppe Torelli's Christmas Concerto and trumpeters James Goodwin and Stanley Baptista will be featured in Antonio Vivaldi's Concert for Two Trumpets and Orchestra.

Morgan, a graduate of Boston University, has performed with the Boston Cecilia Society, Emmanuel Church of Boston, Chorus Pro Musica and the Nashua Choral Society.

A resident of Andover, Morgan, will sing two groups of holiday pieces, including Pietro Yon's Gesu Bambino, Max Reger's Virgin's Slumber Song, Adolphe Adam's O Holy Night and Come Unto Him from Handel's Messiah. The Sacred Heart Choir will sing the "Hallelujah Chorus" from the Messiah and join Morgan in the O Holy Night arrangement.

The orchestra will play the Russian dance from "The Nutcracker," Leroy Anderson's "Sleigh Ride," Katherine Davis' "Carol of the Drum," the first movement of Mozart's Eine Kleine Nachtmusik and accompany the Christmas Festival sing-along by Leroy Anderson.

The concert is sponsored by the Massachusetts Council on the Arts and Humanities, The Webster Foundation, the Lawrence Eagle Tribune, A.T.&T. Network Systems, Raytheon, Salem Community Alliance and the arts councils of Lawrence, Methuen, Haverhill, Georgetown, Amesbury, Groveland and Tewksbury.

Concert Planned

Merrimack College's annual seasonal concert, this year featuring the Pythagorean Festival Orchestra, conducted by Benjamin Cogen, will be held Sunday, Dec. 11, at 2 p.m. in the Collegiate Church of Christ the Teacher. Soloists will be Ben Sayevitch, violin; Karen Smith Emerson, soprano; and Mary Westbrook-Geha, mezzo-soprano.

The program includes Vivaldi's The Four Seasons (violin solo); Mozart's Exultate Jubilate (soprano solo); and Brahms' "Two Songs" (mezzo-soprano with viola and piano).

A group of duets for soprano and mezzo will include Sears' The Annunciation (a world premiere); Bach's "Wir Eilen" (from Cantata 78); Purcell's "Sound the Trumpet" (from Come Ye Sons of Art); and Vivaldi's "Laudamus Te" (from Gloria).

Andover Resident Pursues Dream Of Acting Career

By Melissa M. De Meo

While many kids his age wanted to be firefighters or surgeons, Robert Teichert decided early on that he wanted to be an actor.

That dream is beginning to come true.

At 22, Teichert has already appeared in numerous musicals, print and television commercials and films. He is the son of Frederick and Jane Teichert of 31 Suncrest Road.

He got his start in Andover Community Theatre, in the musicals Carousel and Mame. After graduating from Andover High School in 1984, he moved to Florida, where he has begun to get his acting career off the ground.

"My friends dragged me there," he said with a laugh. Teichert added that he also had a practical reason for moving South: many productions are filmed in Florida, he said. Teichert's done TV commercials for Pepsi, Coca-Cola, Credo Body Spray and Southeast Toyota.

"When I got there, I couldn't believe what was happening," he said. "It's definitely growing. The market is definitely moving east."

Teichert says he has been to the city people usually think of as the performer's mecca—New York. But getting started in the business isn't all it's cracked up to be.

"It's discouraging. They tell you to call back when you live there permanently or you don't have the right look."

It's even hard to find an agent, Teichert said. His agent, Ada Gordon, works out of Miami. He also belongs to the Screen Actors Guild Union.

But, he says, "basically, what you run into down there is a cattle call."

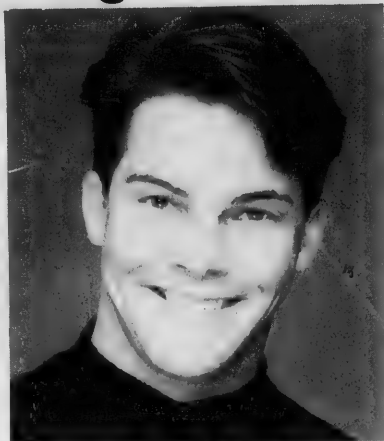

The best way to build a career is to get as much exposure as you can, Teichert said. And that's what he's tried to do. He played Michael, a leading role in Boys in the Band, in a community theater production in Davie, Fla.

He's also done ads for newspapers and magazines. Teichert said he was skiing at Pinkham Notch in Vermont when a representative of Ski Magazine approached him and asked if he'd like to model for the magazine. That's how he got his first modeling job.

Since then, he's done a string of ads, including one for Burger King.

On television, Teichert was one of five actors in an '86 Pepsi commercial aired during the Grammy Awards. The commercial featured Don Johnson of Miami Vice fame and singer Glen Frye.

On the big screen, Teichert's had non-speaking parts in a number of films, including Band of the Hand, Nerds in Paradise (cadet) and Police Academy V (cadet).

Teichert says of all the acting jobs he's done, his favorite have been the films he's worked on. "Commercials are so much different. They're not so demanding," he said. "All the public sees is the film; they don't know the work that goes into it. It's very rewarding and exciting."

Teichert received his training from several schools and workshops, including John Robert Powers Modeling School in Boston and workshops taught by Joseph Lapella at Bailey Hall in Davie and by Ilse Earle at the Miami Actor's Studio.

"Everybody has their own method," Teichert said. "Dustin Hoffman is a method actor. It's very hard. He lives his part for a while before doing it."

Choir Performs In Concert

The 37 boys of the Lawrence Boychoir of Holy Rosary Choir School, directed by David and Nina Bergeron, will present their fourth annual Christmas Concert on Sunday, Dec. 11, at 3:30 p.m. in Holy Rosary Church, Essex and Union Streets. The program will feature A Ceremony of Carols by Benjamin Britten with Felice Pomeranz on harp. The Lawrence Festival Men's Schola and the Epic Brass Quintet of Boston will perform many holiday favorites.

The Lawrence Boychoir has performed in Washington, D.C., and Toronto, Canada, and will perform in St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York City in April. Plans are being finalized for their first European tour to Rome and the Vatican. The Epic Brass Quintet has performed throughout the United States and Europe, appearing with symphony orchestras and in solo concert.

Acting

"I haven't picked what method I use. If you know you can do it, you can read a script."

Teichert says he'd eventually like to star in a film drama—maybe in a biography. "I think it would be great," he said about playing the role of a historical figure. "You have to study a lot, learn all that in a small period of time."

He says actors should be role models for young people. "I like actors who aren't in the tabloids," he said, citing Hoffman and Judd Nelson. Teichert said he also likes the work of Glenn Close and Meryl Streep.

He says actors should do more than fiction; they should make other people aware of social issues. "I'm interested in a lot of things; I like to educate myself about things like AIDS and drug use," he said. "I want to make people aware of these things. People are so naive to it."

But, he admits, theater- and moviegoers look to acting as a way to forget about themselves. "They want to escape when they go to a movie. They don't want to see a movie and say, 'I do this at home—big deal,'" Teichert said. "I'd rather go see a movie about real life. The thing about movies like Barfly and Stealing Home—those are real movies."

Teichert recently tried out for a production called Vagabond Broadway, scheduled to start this month. He says you have to be versatile to audition for parts. To try out for Vagabond, for instance, Teichert said he had to tap and ballroom dance, besides sing.

He said he hasn't received any formal training in dance, but can pick up steps quickly just by watching.

"Everyone has strong points and weak points (at auditions); it's interesting to see."

Teichert works at restaurants to earn money between acting jobs, some of which don't pay anything, he said. "I feel like a gypsy, but you have to pay bills."

He says his family hasn't tried to talk him out of his chosen field. "No one's discouraged me," he said. "You never know—tomorrow may be the day."

"A lot of it's being your own person and taking a risk. A lot of people give up...It's a crazy business."

"A lot of people have the misconception that it's glamorous, but it's not. It takes time, energy and money to keep yourself afloat. Sometimes I ask myself, 'Why am I doing this?' It's because I enjoy it. I don't know what else I would want to do."

Children Perform In 'Nutcracker'

A total of 21 local children appear in the Pittsburgh Ballet Theatre Production of the Nutcracker, to be staged at the J. Everett Collins Center for the Performing Arts, Shawsheen Rd., Andover, on December 2, 3, and 4, for five performances.

Children from Andover performing include: Jennifer Blongiewicz, Jill Sara Bromberg, Suzie Clarke, Nicole Delisio, Sarah Kate Ely, Amanda Fricano, Melissa Gould, Kristen Gresh, Nicole Hajj, Jessica Harlow, Lisa Jayne, Jamie Deborah Kaplan, Tara Kavanagh, Megan Kelley, Brein Nally, Jennifer Pecoraro, Nicole Pecoraro, Carrie Rainen, Julia B. Rozoplos, Kathryn Sarracino, and Kiera Sheehan.

A total of 180 local children, selected from ballet schools throughout Mass. and N.H. will dance the children's roles. These children were chosen from over 400 ballet students who auditioned for these roles in September.

The children have been rehearsing since September at Ellen's School of Dance, Billerica. Dance instruction is under the direction of Miss Ellen Enos, Miss Laurie Enos Pandolfo, and Miss Donna Killerby.

Tickets are on sale now at the Collins Center box office, Shawsheen Road, Andover, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

THE SOCIAL SIDE

Matton-Temple

Eliza Ann Temple and E. Stephen Matton II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest G. Matton of Atlanta, Ga., formerly of Andover, were married Oct. 8, 1988. The Rev. James A. Schillinger performed the ceremony at the Cathedral of Christ the King in Atlanta.

The bride, daughter of the late Ann Wilkinson Temple, formerly of Charlottesville, Va., is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius S. Temple of Mississippi.

The groom is the grandson of Mary Matton of Andover and the late Ernest Matton and the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dyak of Methuen.

The bride was attended by Jackie Potts of New York City as maid of honor and by the groom's cousin, Catherine Dyak of Salem, N.H., Mrs. Michael Welch of Boston, Sue Mize and Mrs. Victor Sharpton of Atlanta, Betsy Barnes and Louise Gillam of Charlottesville. Mrs. Matthew Zielinski of New Jersey was honorary matron of honor.

Ernest Matton was his son's best man, and the groomsmen were Greg and Peter Matton of Atlanta, brothers of the groom; Paul Dyak of Salem, N.H., his cousin; Robert Davie and Jay Walker of Atlanta; and Edmund Brannen of Register, Ga.

Karen Dyak of Methuen, the groom's cousin, attended the guest book.

Area residents who attended the wedding included Mary Matton and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Matton of Andover, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dyak of Methuen, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Dyak, Mrs. Heike Fritsch and Glen Smith of Salem, N.H., Mr. and Mrs. David Walsh of Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. George Heseltine of Hampton, N.H., and Mr. and Mrs. George Glionna of Mr. and Mrs. E. Stephen Matton II Reading.

The bride graduated from Lynchburg College of Virginia. The groom is a graduate of the Westminster Schools in Atlanta and attended Furman University and Georgia Southern. He is a professional golfer.

After a wedding trip to Jamaica, the couple will live in Florida.

Getting Married? Tell The TOWNSMAN

Wedding and engagement announcement forms may be picked up at The TOWNSMAN offices, 89 N. Main St.

They must be typed or printed clearly and accompanied by a telephone number in case the editors have questions. Pictures, preferably black and white, are welcomed. They can be picked up after they are published.

There isn't any cost for announcing either an engagement or wedding in the paper. The TOWNSMAN prints these announcements when space is available. Please return the forms promptly.

Gretchen Reardon

G. Reardon Plans Fall Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Reardon of Ipswich announce the engagement of their daughter, Gretchen Beth, to William Thomas Sullivan of Essex. Mr. Sullivan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Sullivan of Peabody.

Ms. Reardon, a Swampscott resident, graduated from Andover High School and attends Northeastern University. She is a personnel consultant at Emerson Personnel Inc. in Boston.

Her fiancé, a graduate of Peabody Veterans High School and Peterson's School of Engineering, is an engineer at Goldberg Energy Management in Beverly.

The couple is planning an Oct. 1, 1989, wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Donnelly

Donnelly-Campbell

Pamela Jean Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Campbell of Salem, N.H., and Richard E. Donnelly, son of Dorothy Donnelly of 5 Pomeroy Road, were married Oct. 2, 1988, at the Church of the Covenant in Boston. The Rev. Richard Spaulding performed the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride was attended by Sandra Campbell of Salem, N.H., as maid of honor. James Donnelly of Winthrop served as best man.

After a reception in the Bay Tower Room in Boston, the couple took a wedding trip to Maui, Hawaii.

The bride graduated from Salem, N.H., High School and Bay State College in Boston. She is a co-owner of Design Compositions.

The groom graduated from Revere High School and owns Plastering Specialties.

They live in Andover.

DiFrancesco-Webster

Ann Susan Webster and William James DiFrancesco were married Sept. 10, 1988, at the Collegiate Church of Christ the Teacher on the Merrimack College Chapel by the Rev. Fritz Cerullo. The bride is the daughter of Robert Webster and Sally Webster Dion of Andover. The groom is the son of Thomas DiFrancesco of Delmar, N.Y., and the late Josephine DiFrancesco.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by Lynne Trombly of North Andover as matron of honor. Her bridesmaids were Judy Webster of Manchester, N.H., Jane Webster of Plaistow, N.H., Lisa Aiello of Andover, Robin Webster of Northwood, N.H., and Lisa DiFrancesco of Delmar.

Joseph DiFrancesco of Loundonville, N.Y., served as best man. Thomas DiFrancesco of Fairfield, Conn., Robert DiFrancesco of West Roxbury, Steven Weber of Glenridge, N.J., and Steven Webster of Northwood were ushers.

The church was decorated with candelabras with greens, the aisles with flowers and greens. The theme colors were blues and pinks. "Ave Maria" was among the music played during the ceremony.

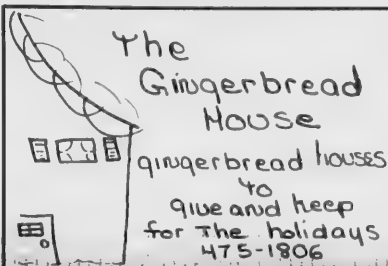

The bride wore a candlelit ivory satin gown with hand-sewn pearls and lace. Her hand-made veil was adorned with pearls and lace that matched the dress. She carried a bouquet of gardenias, stephanotis and roses of pinks and ivory colors cascading into a teardrop shape.

After a reception was held at the Andover Country Club, the couple took a wedding trip to Oahu, Kauai and Maui, Hawaii.

The bride received a bachelor of science degree in business management from Boston University. She is program manager at Life Signs Inc. in Brookline.

The groom graduated from Northeastern University with an accounting and finance degree. He is business manager of the Kerry Corp. in Boston.

The couple lives in Andover.

Smith Alumni Start Fund-Raiser

The Andover-Merrimack Valley Smith College Club has begun its annual fund-raising sale of shelled mammoth Georgia pecan halves to aid the scholarship program at Smith College, a women's college in Northampton. The nuts were distributed to members for sale to the public at the club's fall meeting held at the home of pecan coordinator Mrs. Dwain Smith of Andover.

The mammoth size is the largest in the grading of nuts. The pecan halves which are being sold in one-pound cellophane bags make welcome gifts during the holiday season.

Smith College alumnae in charge of pecan sales are: Mrs. Joel Rubinstein, 38 East Main St., Rocks Village, Haverhill; Mrs. Emilio DiFranza, 25 Bow St., North Reading; Mrs. Rosamond Gowen, Georgetown Road, West Newbury; Mrs. Craig Falk, Elm St., Boxford; and Mrs. Dwain Smith, 62 Abbot St., Andover.

Club Meets Monday

The December meeting of the November Club will be held on Monday, Dec. 5, at the Christ Church Parish Hall at 1 p.m.

Greeting members and their guests will be Mrs. Paul Barry and Mrs. Arthur Ermer. Presiding at the tea table will be Mrs. Jorge DeNapoli and Rita Dowd.

"The program 'Home for the Holidays' by Constance McCausland will feature arrangements created by McCausland to be used throughout the house. The guest is a nationally accredited flower show judge. She has had her own business selling wreaths and arrangements through specialty shops under her own label. McCausland has appeared as a guest on several New England television programs

Parish Plans Cruise To Mexico

St. Augustine Church has planned a cruise on Princess Cruise's ship, the Dawn Princess, departing on March 4, for seven nights. The itinerary includes departure from Los Angeles, Calif., and stops at Puerto Vallarta, Mazatlan and Cabo San Lucas on the Mexican Pacific coast. Rates, include bus from Andover to Boston, roundtrip air fare to Los Angeles, choice of accommodations on board ship, all food and entertainment. The Rev. Thomas J. Meehan, O.S.A., of St. Augustine's parish will be the cruise chaplain and will accompany the group.

St. Augustine's invites anyone interested to a cruise night on Thursday, Dec. 8, at 7:30 p.m. at St. Augustine's Good Counsel Hall, 43 Essex St. Audio/visual presentation on the cruise and ports of call, literature, refreshments and door prizes will highlight the evening.

The cruise will accomplish the dual purpose of increasing fellowship in the parish and as a means of fund-raising. In conjunction with the latter, St. Augustine's is having a raffle for a prize of two cruises on the Dawn Princess, hotel stays in Cape Cod, Nantucket, Myrtle Beach, tickets to Celtics' games, dinner tickets and more. Interested people can buy tickets at St. Augustine's rectory. Prizes will be awarded on Dec. 10 at St. Augustine's Christmas concert at Merrimack College.

Persons interested in the cruise to Mexico can telephone Susan Schumacher at Groups.

Fellowship Slates Hanukkah Party

The Andover Jewish Fellowship Welcomes all Andover families to its annual Hanukkah party, to be held this year on Sunday, Dec. 4, from 2 to 4 p.m. at 6 Locke St.

Hanukkah, the eight-day Feast of Lights, commemorates the victory of the Maccabees over the Syrians in 165 B.C. and the rededication of the Temple at Jerusalem. The traditional lighting of the menorah candles celebrates the miracle that kept the temple lights burning during the Syrian siege.

The Hanukkah party will be a family celebration. Activities will include children's crafts and games, holiday food (featuring the traditional latkes), a play telling the story of Hanukkah, holiday songs and the lighting of family menorahs.

Families are asked to bring a gift for the Tzedakah box. These gifts will be distributed to needy Jewish children in the greater Lawrence area. Please wrap the Tzedakah gift and label it to indicate whether it is for a boy or a girl, and which age group it is appropriate for. AJF suggests that parents of young children bring a small gift for their own child to be included in a "goody bag" to take home along with Hanukkah gelt and crafts from the children's activities. Every family should bring its menorah for the community candle lighting.

For further information, contact Lois Karfunkel or Christine Kaplan, both of Andover.

'Vale To Order New Hymnal

The Ballard Vale United Church Council has approved a plan to order the new United Methodist hymnal for congregational use.

The new hymnal is the first official book developed for the 9.1 million-member denomination since it was formed in 1968 through union of the Evangelical United Brethren and Methodist churches. The hymnal revision committee had been meeting for three years before final approval came on May at the General Conference meeting in St. Louis, Mo. Delegates to that conference included Joyce Robinson, a member of Ballardvale United, and Caroline Edge, district superintendent of the central district, of which Ballardvale is a part. Shipments of the publication are expected by late summer of 1989.

The psalter had been proposed to be gender neutral but delegates did restore the pronoun "his" to 53 references to God in 35 of the 113 recommended psalms. Dr. Harrell F. Beck, professor emeritus in Old Testament at Boston University School of Theology, had served as consultant to this worship section of the book. Former Boston Area Bishop George Bashore was a committee member. Over 20,000 letters from United Methodists had been generated with major concern over which hymns would be included in the new publication. A number of hymns in the current hymnal were eliminated to make room for those of several ethnic traditions, more recent composers and more traditional Wesley hymns.

Theologians and Christian educators alike recognize the importance of hymns as a teaching tool and envy the possession of such an instrument by United Methodists. The worship portion contains liturgies for membership, communion, baptism and weddings.

Members and friends of the Ballard Vale United Church will be given the opportunity to order hymnals in honor or in memory of loved ones. Christmas "gifts" to the church will be made through the Memorial Fund of the church with orders to be received by the worship committee, Nancy Koltitz, chairwoman.

Charlotte Coburn

Charlotte (Muirhead) Penwell Coburn, 80, a resident of Union Mission Nursing Home in Haverhill, died Nov. 22, 1988, at Hale Hospital in Haverhill.

Born in Newark, N.J., Mrs. Coburn, formerly of Andover, was a ward secretary at Lawrence General Hospital until her retirement.

She was a member of the Second Congregational Church in West Boxford.

She was the widow of Kenneth Penwell and Louis Coburn. Members of her family include a son, Delos Penwell of Hilton Head, S.C.; a daughter, Nancy Hood of Methuen; a brother, William Muirhead of Carmel, Ind.; eight grandchildren; seven great-grandchildren; and several nieces and nephews.

A funeral service was held Friday at the Second Congregational Church. Burial was in Mount Vernon Cemetery in Boxford.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Lawrence General Hospital Fund, 1 General St., Lawrence, Mass.

Elbert J. Drazy

Elbert J. Drazy, 72, of Amherst Road, died Friday, Nov. 25, 1988 at Lawrence General Hospital.

Mr. Drazy was born in Kankakee, Ill., and graduated from Purdue University.

He was retired from Bell Labs where he was employed as an electrical engineer at the West Street, Murray Hill and Merrimack Valley laboratories.

His 36-year career included development of test equipment for radar and microwave transmission. He was a member of the Telephone Pioneers.

Mr. Drazy was a long-time member of the American Theater Organ Society. He provided technical assistance for the installation of the Wurlitzer pipe organ from Leow's State Theater at Babson College. He also helped obtain a theater organ for Andover Town Hall. He was a member of the Boston Audio Society.

He is survived by his wife, Mary C. (Campbell) Drazy, Andover; a son, Norman A. Drazy, Tempe, Ariz.; a daughter, Denise J. Drazy-Shedd, Millinocket, Maine; a brother, Willard Drazy, Joliet, Ill.; a granddaughter, Alison Shedd; and two nieces.

Cremation took place at Linwood Cemetery, Haverhill. Memorial contributions may be made to the Andover Town Hall Organ Project or to Sidney Farber Cancer Institute, 44 Binney St., Boston.

Charles Martino

Charles E. Martino, 54, of North Reading, died Wednesday, Nov. 23, 1988 at University Hospital in Boston.

Mr. Martino was born in Wakefield, the son of the late William and Eugina (Ramsdell) Martino.

He had been a custodian at North Reading High School for the past 17 years. He was a lifetime member of the Tewksbury Rod and Gun Club.

Mr. Martino served as a lance Corporal in the Marine Corps during the Korean War.

He had been a North Reading resident for the past 31 years, and before that in Wilmington for many years. He was the brother of the late Anthony Martino.

He is survived by his wife, Ann A. (Renzulli) Martino, North Reading; two sons, Charles E. Martino Jr., Wakefield and John F. Martino, North Reading; a daughter, Lorraine J. Martino, North Reading; three sisters, Mary Woods and Elizabeth Blaisdell, both of Wilmington, and Catherine Park, Andover; a brother, William Martino, Wakefield; and several nieces and nephews.

A Mass was held Monday morning at St. Theresa's Church, North Reading. Burial was in Riverside Cemetery, North Reading.

H. Gary Holt

H. Gary Holt, 67, of Canterbury Street, died Friday, Nov. 25, 1988 at the Holy Family Hospital in Methuen.

Born in Lawrence, he attended Andover schools and graduated from Punchard High School in 1939. He graduated from Boston University with a degree in journalism.

Mr. Holt was assistant vice president in the credit department of Bay Bank Middlesex, Burlington.

He was an Army veteran of World War II, a member of the Andover Auxiliary Police and a member of St. Matthews Lodge AF&AF in Andover.

He is survived by his wife, Shirley (Nussbaum) Holt of Andover; a son, David G. of Dover, Del.; three daughters, Cheryl Eastwood of Methuen, Patricia Carter of Methuen and Helen Holt of Andover; and three grandchildren.

Services were held Tuesday morning at the Allen-Mundrey Funeral Home, Lawrence. Burial was in Spring Grove Cemetery, Andover.

Memorial contributions may be made to the charity of one's choice.

Mary P. Alexander

Mary P. (Lynch) Alexander, 60, of Hampton, N.H., formerly of Andover, died Nov. 20, 1988, at her home after a long illness.

Born in Cambridge, Mrs. Alexander had been a Hampton resident for the last five years. She operated Baby's Crib Shop in Hampton Falls with her son, John, and daughter-in-law, Vickie. Prior to that, she and her late husband, Albert I. III, who died in 1976, owned and operated Alexander Industries, a rope manufacturing company.

Mrs. Alexander was a very active member of St. Robert Bellarmine Church in Andover for many years. She was a graduate of Lowell High School and the former Bouve College, now Tufts University in Boston.

She was also a physical education teacher for the Walnut Hill School in Brookline for many years.

Members of her family include her sons, Dr. Albert I. Alexander IV of Hampton and John D. Alexander of Kensington; daughters, Kathleen Withkowski of Windham, N.H., and Peggy Alexander of Hampton; brothers, the Rev. Kevin A. Lynch, C.S.P. of New York, N.Y., and Jack Lynch of Fairfield, Conn.; four grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

A Mass was celebrated Wednesday in Our Lady of the Miraculous Medal Church in Hampton. Burial was in West Parish Church.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis Association, 15300 Ventura Boulevard, Suite 315, Sherman Oaks, Calif. 91403.

Richard E. Hill

Richard E. Hill, 97, of Prescott Street died Nov. 26 at Lawrence General Hospital after suffering two strokes in the last three weeks.

Mr. Hill founded the R.E. Hill Coffee Co. of Lawrence in 1946.

The company now employs 20 people and sells packaging materials and equipment for coffee and other foods.

Born in Calais, Maine, Mr. Hill remained very active and even drove his car until 1982.

Mr. Hill was an avid bridge player and loved the outdoors. He worked for a time as a fishing guide in Maine.

A self-educated man, Mr. Hill's formal schooling ended when he left sixth grade.

Mr. Hill first worked for a newspaper in Calais where he learned typesetting and was referred to as a "printer's devil." When he tired of that, he took a job as a deckhand on a schooner that sailed from Eastport, Maine to Boston. He left that to return to printing, this time at the Harvard Crimson.

While working in Boston, he read law for several years before enlisting in the U.S. Army during World War I. In just three years, he earned the rank of lieutenant.

Mr. Hill's last family party was a celebration of his son's 65th birthday, three weeks ago.

Auditions

The Carousel Theatre Company will be holding auditions for the comedy Love, Sex and the IRS, directed by Arnie Pelletier of Danvers, Tuesday, Dec. 6 at 7 p.m. at Giordano's Starlite Theatre, Route 97, Georgetown, MA. Rehearsals begin immediately, and performances are Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, from February 2 through February 26. All readings will be from the script, and no prepared piece is required by the director.

If you're looking for a new job in the same field you can deduct from your taxes the cost of postage, stationery, telephone calls and travel connected with the search.

Mr. Hill was a former member of the Calais American Legion Post. He was the father of the late C. Clark Richmond of Wakefield.

Besides his son, members of his family include seven grandchildren; 10 great-grandchildren; and several nieces and nephews, including his namesake, Richard E. Hill of Andover.

A memorial service will be Friday at 11 a.m. at North Parish Unitarian Universalist Church, 190 Academy Road, North Andover.

Ellen A. Flemming

Ellen A. (Foley) Flemming died Nov. 27 at Blair House.

Mrs. Flemming was born in Lawrence and she lived there most of her life. She had been an attendant at St. Laurence O'Toole Church of Lawrence and St. Monica Church in Methuen.

She was the widow of Charles F. Flemming and members of her family include daughters, Mrs. William A. (Eleanor A.) Dempsey of Warwick, R.I. and Mrs. Andrew J. (Charlotte F.) McCarthy of Wellesley Hills; sisters Mrs. Louis (Mary) Bowker of Tewksbury and Laura Foley of Andover; a brother, Maurice Foley of Tewksbury, three grandchildren, three great-grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

A Mass was held Tuesday at St. Monica Church, Methuen. Burial followed in St. Mary Cemetery, Lawrence.

South Teacher Participates In Citizenship Task Force

By Julie M. Barry

The old saying "money makes the world go around" may have some validity, at least as far as economics is concerned.

Economics, a subject that intimidates most college students, should be taught to youngsters at an early age because it's an integral part of day-to-day living, says Robert Littlefield, fifth-grade teacher at South Elementary School.

His expertise in economics for elementary and middle school students, led to Littlefield's involvement in the preparation of a report called Excellence in Social Studies Education: The Foundation of Active Citizenship.

The report was developed by a statewide task force made up of social studies teachers specializing in areas like economics, anthropology, sociology, geography and world history, said Littlefield. "It's a comprehensive social studies report," he added.

The task force was co-sponsored by the Massachusetts Council for Social Studies and the state Department of Education. The report is geared toward social studies teachers, and, according to Commissioner of Education Harold Reynolds, Jr., it is intended to assist school systems plan a more effective strategy for developing active, informed citizens.

The task force developed teaching strategies and a resource directory, which includes museums and professional associations, Littlefield said.

Since it has just been completed, the report's impact is difficult to determine. But "it should be a worthwhile resource to any community that wants a comprehensive guide (pre-kindergarten through grade 12) to the teaching of social studies," he said.

Littlefield, program chairman of the Economic Education Council of Massachusetts for the past three years, said participating in the task force was worthwhile. "I was pleased to be invited to participate because I think economics is such a critical component of citizenship today."

And he says students should be familiar with economic terminology and comfortable with the subject at an early age because it plays a role in so many facets of education and daily life.

For example, Littlefield said, "if you don't understand economics, it's almost impossible to comprehend any daily newspaper."

And to truly understand many historical events, one must consider the economic components, Littlefield said. The American Revolution, he said, was due in large part to economics: "taxation without representation."

The rationale for a social studies education, according to the report, is citizen education that "enables students to be-

Middle School Heads Say Transition Going Smoothly

Doherty and West have been known as "middle schools" for three months, and school principals are satisfied with their progress so far.

The principals, Dr. Richard McGrail of Doherty and William Hart of West, presented an update to the School Committee at its Nov. 14 meeting.

Due to the grade reorganization in the Andover school system, Doherty and West were converted from junior highs to middle schools.

Preparation for the transition began last spring. Teachers and administrators from both schools attended the annual Middle School Conference in Hyannis. The purpose, said McGrail, was to share ideas with other professionals, become familiar with trends and successful practices and to develop a nucleus of staff support.

Meetings were held to orient parents, students and staff members to the reorganization plans. And sixth-grade teachers who were moving to the middle schools visited the schools to become acquainted with one other and the facilities, McGrail said.

Two task forces, consisting of staff from both middle schools, met during the summer. One prepared a Middle School Student-/Parent Handbook, which was mailed to students prior to the opening of school in September.

The other task force focused on key middle school concepts to be addressed over the next three to five years, such as an interdisciplinary approach, a teacher advisory program, a variety of extracurricular activities and flexible scheduling. The committee, said Hart, recommended that the interdisciplinary approach be the main priority during the 1988-'89 school year because it indirectly gives attention to other middle school concepts.

Preparation continued into the fall. Visiting consultants spoke about interdisciplinary units at the first in-service half day in September, said McGrail. It was decided that all middle school teams would develop a pilot interdisciplinary unit, and McGrail said that's proceeding on schedule.

Downs: Board Needs More Say In Budget

Saying the selectmen were distracted by other issues, Chairman William Downs called for more involvement from selectmen in the budget process.

Speaking at the Board of Selectmen workshop session this week, Downs said he felt the selectmen should "have more input than we did last year."

Downs didn't criticize the 1988 budget itself or the town officials who were the architects.

"It was just that we (the selectmen) didn't put enough time into the budget last year," he said. "I think we just got so involved in the comprehensive permit controversies, we neglected our work on the budget," Downs said later.

The budget didn't suffer because town officials and the town Finance Committee stepped into the gap, but "part of the job and responsibility of being a selectman is involvement in the budget process," he said.

The solution, Downs feels, is to have more communication between the factions responsible for developing the budget.

The Andover Police Department became the fourth law enforcement agency in the state to win national accreditation. Police representatives received a formal certificate of accreditation at a reception at the Marriott Tuesday night. Pictured, left to right, are Police Chief James Johnson; Ken Medeiros, executive director of the Commission for Law Enforcement Agencies; Town Manager Kenneth Mahony; and Lt. Don Mooers, accreditation manager for the Andover police. The organization granting accreditation requires rigorous standards from its members, and the department will be inspected every five years.

Announcing Publicly

The annual town election doesn't take place until late March, but already the prospects of an interesting and competitive race for the two seats available on the Board of Selectmen is in the works.

Last week, as the two incumbents, Charles Wesson and Gerald Silverman, announced their intentions to seek re-election during the regular meeting of the board, a candidate and others protested the action.

The main thrust of the protest was that the two were taking advantage of cable television time since the local cable company telecasts the board meetings live.

Without indicating any endorsement of the candidacies of anyone, the actions of the two incumbents seem rather proper and frankly need no apology.

Both were taking advantage of what most in the world of politics do, namely using the benefits of incumbency.

All candidates in office do so, from the president on down and, while those attempting to wrest the office from the incumbent may not be particularly pleased with the action, it is a way of political life that has existed for years.

One of the principal objections was the candidate's appearance on the cable television broadcast, an objection that seems somewhat absurd.

It is doubtful that the Andover selectmen's meeting would shatter the Nielsen ratings, particularly in view of 'War and Remembrance' being telecast as well as Monday night football.

Board Chairman William Downs said he would consider providing equal time for other candidates to face the TV cameras with their announcements.

Already, in a letter to the editor this week, Jack Dziadul, who is an announced candidate, has stated that he will not demand the equal time approach.

All of the candidates have the opportunity to announce their intentions through the news columns of The TOWNSMAN.

As of the moment there are four announced candidates for selectmen, and there are reports that there may be others seeking election to the two three-year terms up for consideration.

Frankly it's great to see such interest for a change. It has been some time since public service in Andover has attracted so much attention.

Since there is such interest, doesn't it seem more appropriate to address issues facing the town than worrying about television ratings?

Anyone interested in announcing their candidacy for public office is welcome to use our news columns to say so. After all, we have been performing that service for 102 years rather effectively.

DOWN THE YEARS

100 Years Ago — December 1888

It was a happy Thanksgiving at the almshouse. Sup't Allen's provision of a good turkey dinner for the inmates was supplemented by contributions of pears from Messrs. Draper and Makepeace, and by the bags of goodies sent in, as usual, by Mr. and Mrs. Dove.

The Selectmen have stated that no persons will be allowed to remove snow on the public ways except by order of the proper authorities.

The Punchard School Fair, will be held next week.

The Spring Grove Cemetery Committee offer to sell the standing wood and timber on eighteen acres of land.

Mr. Richard M. Abbott and family left town on Tuesday for Vineland, N.J., where they will spend the winter.

Mr. E. Francis Holt has had a number of men employed during the holidays fixing up the school yard.

The village schools will begin the winter term Monday, Dec. 10.

A scrub game of football on the Niotus field was enjoyed by quite a large gathering on Thanksgiving forenoon.

75 Years Ago — December 1913

Reserve seats will go on exchange next Monday for the first in series of Chadwick Club concerts, at the Lawrence Opera House. The concert, Dec. 17, will be given by the full Boston Symphony Orchestra.

Howard Cates has been elected captain of the 1914 football team at Punchard.

John Henderson has begun work on a two tenement house on Red Spring road.

The fire department was called to the home of Paul Lee on Tuesday afternoon because a small shed in the rear of the house in which a stove is kept, had got on fire. The trouble was quickly overcome and little damage resulted.

John E. Smith and family of High street left town this week for Hudson, where the former is to locate and engage in civil engineering.

Doctor Peabody will lecture in the Archaeology Building, Andover Hill, December 11, on "Man of the Sands and Caves." He spent several weeks in explorations in France recently and will tell of his discoveries.

The first organ recital of the season took place on Wednesday afternoon in the Chapel church.

50 Years Ago — December 1938

Wednesday noon 91 out of 2,606 billed had not paid even after the demand from the local collector and the notice of probable suspension from the Registry.

The annual card party of the Punchard Alumni Association will be held Wednesday evening in Memorial Gymnasium.

The Board of Public Works have notified the selectmen that the snow removal fund is almost all used up and that if the usual snowy December conditions prevail, it will be necessary for the town fathers to declare an emergency to meet the nec-

Just A Thought
By Bob Finneran

Santa Claus came to town Sunday and got the traditional fine greeting extended over the years by the Andover firefighters.

It's difficult to comprehend how they do it, but annually the firefighters produce a bigger and better parade for the enjoyment of the hundreds who line the parade route.

George Thompson and Walter Potvin have been in charge of the event for a number of years, and, despite changes in times and days, still manage to put together a great show for young and old alike.

This year, of course, there was the threat of rain. At one point before the parade got underway, someone with a radio reported that the festivities better get underway soon, because it was pouring in Boston.

There were a few raindrops off and on, but they hardly dampened the spirits of those who came to get into the Christmas spirit and provide a good old Andover welcome for Santa.

It was wonderful to see the participation of the schools in this year's parade.

The various floats added to the festive occasion with original creations. Only one school, Bancroft Elementary, had to make last-minute adjustments. Seems a 20-foot flatbed was expected and a 10-footer ultimately arrived. This posed some problems for the dragon presentation, which, instead of being stretched out on the float, had to curl around. Parents and friends accompanied the float to ensure the youthful participants in the presentation safely covered the parade route.

Among the several bands, the Sons of Italy drum and bugle corps from Haverhill made a great presentation, offering seasonal tunes among their repertoire and going through drills constantly along the parade route.

Andover High's marching band was a perfect complement to Santa aboard the department's new ladder truck.

And, speaking of ladder trucks, Andover's old Ladder 1 broke down just before reaching Park Street.

The victim of a dead battery, it was almost like the apparatus, although inanimate, was indicating that it should be taking a left and heading to the old central fire station located behind the Town Hall where the municipal parking lot is now.

Standing watching all this was Joe Gaudet, a call fireman who used to respond to the sounding of the fire horn and hop aboard the 1941 65-foot aerial ladder and drive it.

The remainder of the parade had to go around the stranded vehicle and later, through the assistance of a jump-start from the fire chief's car, they were able to get the apparatus going again and back to Reading, where it is owned by a group of old fire truck buffs.

It was a fine parade, but I came away with the usual complaint. Of all the groups tossing lollipops along the way—and there were at least three—I still failed to get a red one. Had two yellows and a green, while the little tyke in front of me came up with two reds and a green, appropriate holiday colors.

THE PUBLIC FORUM

Declines Opportunity

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

During the Nov. 21 selectmen's meeting, Messieurs Silverman and Wesson read speeches announcing and promoting their candidacies for re-election. Mr. Wesson mentioned to me, in advance, that he probably would announce during the next meeting. Although I thought it to be inappropriate, I was not going to make an issue of the event. However, what occurred was not simply announcements of candidacy, but full-blown campaign speeches by both gentlemen. It was more than I and a number of others could sit still for. In an effort to be equitable to other candidates, Chairman Downs offered equal time. My initial reaction was to request and take advantage of that opportunity.

I am willing to concede the home field advantage to the incumbents. That is a political reality that all challengers must accept. Sitting officials, though, have a duty not just to observe the highest standards of conduct, but to define those standards. It is with this thought in mind that I shall advise Chairman Downs that I will decline the opportunity to have equal time for a political speech during a future selectmen's meeting.

W. John Dziadul

Thank You

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

The Easter Seal Society would like to thank the Andover-North Andover YMCA and the volunteers from our neighboring communities who assisted our participants in the therapeutic swim program offered on Sunday afternoon. Special thanks to Rick and Nancy LaRue, the instructors of the program. Mary Minard of the community services office at Phillips Academy coordinated the group of students from the academy who assisted our clients each week.

The Phillips Academy students were Becky Caperton, Stacy Enos, Heather Sullivan, Sarah Halbron, Rachel Parady, Hillary Stern, Anujeet Sareen, Lisa Mosca, Kristin Damor, Katy Burdett, Jane Gray and Julie Brennan.

Special thanks goes to our community volunteers, Nicole Belle Isle, Pat Pakos and Shaun Logan.

Life in our society is very busy. Everyone has too much to do. People who give their time to help others are, indeed, very special.

We cannot take away a person's disability, but, with the help of volunteers, we can teach people how to put "ability" back into their disability.

Many thanks to Easter Seal volunteers who help us to help others.

come active citizens who are knowledgeable, critical and independent participants in the democratic process."

Economics is a major factor in that philosophy, Littlefield said. "If we don't have a sense of economics and how it affects our world, we're really not bringing our full potential to our citizenship decisions."

The presidential campaign, for example, didn't force candidates to discuss economic issues, Littlefield said. Maybe that was because the public didn't demand it, he said.

Littlefield says he includes the economic perspective in all of his fifth-grade classes. And he teaches a course for one semester, Children's Economy.

That program has been in existence for 12 years and is included in a book, Enrichment Programs That Work, Littlefield said.

ahead, Andover will accept bids for removal of asbestos, Paul said.

How long it will take to remove the asbestos has not been determined. A time line for the project will be part of Hall Kimball's recommendations in its final survey, Paul said.

Andover has until May to finish the inspection, but Paul says it will be completed before the deadline.

Workshop

The National Youth Sports Coaches Association of Massachusetts will present a Chapter Development/Clinician Training Workshop Dec. 7 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Billerica.

The workshop is intended for recreation professionals of all levels who are involved with youth sports. If your department administers youth leagues directly or if independent leagues use municipal facilities, the workshop will teach you about professional and legal responsibility and liability.

It will also cover the problems associated with youth sports programs and provide participants with the training to become certified NYSCA youth sports clinicians.

Topics to be covered include the psychology of coaching youth,

Bus Bids

The Smith Co. works extensively in southern New Hampshire, running a fleet of 550 school and charter buses.

Gadd said his firm's "good working relationship with the MBTA" gives them an edge over the competition.

Peter Lavin, operations manager for Crystal Transport, said the MBTA is also familiar with Crystal's work operating transit shuttles for Boston College and Boston University students.

"We want to expand," said Lavin. "We're looking to get into a line run situation. It helps pay the bills during the slow months."

Joe Costanza of the MVRTA did not respond to phone messages left at the transit authority's offices.

Although each company said it would be ready to take over the Merrimack-Boston line on short notice, all were aware the prize could be snatched from them by Merrimac Transportation.

Merrimac claims they have a signed, valid contract through June, 1989. The MBTA says that since Merrimac violated terms of the agreement, there is no contract.

Merrimac company officials say they will probably file a lawsuit against the state agency.

Gadd isn't sure if the MBTA can break the contract; but regardless, he said, if awarded the subsidy, Timberlane Transportation is ready to operate the Boston route.

Michaud said the Merrimac-MBTA struggle doesn't concern him either because his company is big enough to "start tomorrow, and if I have to walk away, it's no problem."

The shoestring was invented in 1790.

Warrior Explosive Opening Falls Short

By Rick Harrison

Those who were punctual witnessed an explosive beginning to the traditional Andover-Central Catholic Thanksgiving morning football game last week.

Barely 50 per cent of the spectators had settled into their seats at Lovely Field when Golden Warriors' quarterback Kurt Brucato and wide receiver Jack Dalton hooked up on an electrifying 75-yard pass-and-run touchdown play.

The contest was barely a minute old and coach Dick Collins' crew was already on a 280-point pace.

Central absorbed the quick knockdown, however, and climbed off the canvas to score the next four touchdowns en route to a 27-14 triumph over Andover in the season ending contest for both teams last Thursday.

The slick duo of Brucato and Dalton were to hook up once again late in the game, but it wasn't enough as Central finished 7-3-0 and denied the 4-5-1 Golden Warriors a winning season before a large crowd on a frosty morning.

It marked CCHS' second consecutive victory in the series, the most points the Red Raiders have scored against Andover in a decade, and the first time in several years the game had been decided by more than a one touchdown margin.

"If you'd asked me at the start of the year if I'd be satisfied with 4-5-1, I probably would've said yes," stated Collins. "We were very inexperienced, especially up front. We were playing two sophomores and a freshman (Eric Greenstein) in the line late in the season. There was a time when I would have thought using even one sophomore was very unusual."

But times have changed. "We can't think of it as a bad season," noted Collins. "Naturally we wanted it to end with a victory, but Central was the better team."

"We improved tremendously the second half of the year, but played two outstanding football teams the last three games. Tewksbury (7-2-1) and Central are among the best around."

"There is no question our defense was at a disadvantage, having to play so soon after the North Andover game (four-day rest). We had little time to prepare and several of our kids were banged up," said Collins.

"I honestly believe we'd have made a better showing if we had two full weeks to get ready."

Central did a fine job containing senior QB Kurt Brucato, whose final stats were 76-of-130 (59 per cent) for 1,193 yards and 12 touchdowns in just six games.

Ace receivers John Thompson and Jack Dalton ended the year with 43 and 41 receptions respectively.

The Red Raiders' defense stuffed Andover's running game as well, holding the Golden Warriors to insignificant total yardage on the ground.

Early Magic Brucato, who completed 6-of-17 for 188 yards but was victimized when his intended receivers slipped on several passes, hit Dalton for a touchdown on Andover's first play from scrimmage.

It marked the first of Dalton's four catches totaling 117 yards.

"We were concerned about Central's defensive rush from the back side, so I just wanted to send them a message with that back-door screen pass," said Collins. "And the darn thing went for a touchdown."

"Actually we didn't fool them as much as it might have looked," admitted Collins. "Their player was where he should have been to make the tackle (on Dalton), but we got a great block that sprung it for long yardage."

"Central put a lot of pressure on Bruca-to, but he still would have hit over 50 per cent if the footing had been better. It was very slick in certain spots. Thompson had to change his shoes at halftime."

The Red Raiders, of course, had to perform on the same surface.

And Collins wasn't really complaining. "On a scale of 1-to-10 for Thanksgiving day weather and conditions this one had to rate about a 9½," he acknowledged.

Lane Steady

CCHS junior quarterback Chris Lane, one of four Andover residents on the winning team, hit 6-of-12 passes for 75 yards and directed the running attack adeptly.

Central piled up 239 yards in 46 rushing plays, and scored all four touchdowns on the ground.

Chris Kalil and Shaun Duffy were the principal ballcarriers, Kalil gaining 80 yards in 14 carries and Duffy 54 yards in 10 lugs.

Kalil and Duffy also notched two TDs apiece.

After lightning struck for Andover, the Red Raiders began to play ball control.

Kalil completed a sustained drivewith a six-yard touchdown run late in the first

Gridders To Get Awards

The Andover Football Parents Organization will hold its annual high school football awards banquet on Dec. 8 at Andover High School. Starting at 6:30 p.m. in the cafeteria, a roast beef dinner will be served. Tickets are available at the door.

The awards banquet is the time when the efforts and accomplishments of the players, cheerleaders, and Indians are recognized. Immediately after the dinner, the affair moves to the adjacent Collins Center, where letters and trophies are awarded. In addition, senior players are presented with various mementos of their final year of play on the gridiron.

Volunteers

Star and Spindle Girl Scouts are looking for adults in the community who would be willing to share a few hours a week to serve as troop leaders. Leaders are especially needed for the five year old Daisy Girl Scouts, Brownie and Junior Girl Scouts.

Training is provided by adult volunteers in a fun and informal setting. For more information about Girl Scouting in your community, contact the Girl Scout office.

Warrior

period, but the Warriors retained a 7-6 lead when the two-point conversion pass fell incomplete.

A one-yard run by Duffy in the second quarter, followed by a conversion toss from Andover resident Glenn Farnham to Lou Garcia, enabled CCHS to take a 14-7 lead into the locker room at halftime.

The versatile Farnham, incidentally, caught three passes from Lane during the game.

The visitors completed their offense by scoring twice in the third stanza, Duffy sprinting 23 yards to paydirt and Kalil racing nine yards.

Sean Reardon added his 14th conversion kick of the campaign after Duffy's second TD.

Brucato's 12th touchdown pass covered 13 yards to Dalton in the fourth quarter, Dalton (48 points) snatching his eighth scoring aerial of the season and fourth in the final two games.

"Paul DeMarco (middle linebacker), who was outstanding all season, played another solid defensive game for us," noted Collins. "He's 212 pounds and a real tiger. We're just starting the recruiting process now, but DeMarco should get picked up by a scholarship school."

Brucato Surprise

Brucato was the hands-down surprise of the year, stepping in for the injured Steve Surette in the fifth game and playing as well as any other Merrimack Valley Conference signalcaller in this "Year of the Quarterback."

"Kurt did surprise me," stated Collins. "We decided to go with him in the Methuen game basically because he was a senior and had given three years to the program. He deserved a shot."

Brucato definitely made the most of his opportunity.

"He really hadn't shown that kind of flair in the pre-season," noted Collins. "But he did a remarkable job — a magnificent job. Kurt played with a lot of heart and desire. You just never know."

Brucato and Dalton, incidentally, are thinking seriously of going to prep school together next fall.

"If they do, whoever gets them will have quite a combination," said Collins. "Dalton really came on strong, and Thompson is simply a great athlete. He's 6-3 and plays like he's 6-9."

Collins Returns

Merrimack Valley Conference officials will get together in the coming weeks and draw up a new two-year football schedule.

MVC champion and Eastern Mass. Division 2 Super Bowl qualifier Dracut will undoubtedly return to the Andover schedule, and Collins is hopeful a new date can be found for the North Andover game.

"We've had to play the game the Saturday before Thanksgiving because our open dates didn't correspond," explained Collins. "We hope the two athletic directors and two leagues can get together and work something out."

"It would be for the good of high school football in this entire area, because few games draw the notoriety and crowd that Andover-North Andover does."

"Even if it was the first game of the year (that's NA's open date in 1989) we'd do it," added Collins. "Of course, opening games always draw well. We could play Timbukto and still get a crowd."

Approximately 50 per cent of MVC football coaches have indicated this was their final year, including Steve Perocchi

Symposium

Liability in treating cancer patients, progress against advanced forms of cancer and new developments in AIDS management will be among the topics explored by physicians, nurses and other health professionals at the American Cancer Society's Dec. 7 medical symposium at the Park Plaza Hotel in Boston.

Dr. Fitzhugh Mullan, author of Vital Signs: A Young Doctor's Struggle with Cancer, will be the luncheon speaker at the full-day program.

(Lawrence), Walter Nelson (Lowell), Mike Esposito (Billerica) and possibly Ed Murphy (Dracut), Larry Klimas (Methuen) and Bob Pike (Haverhill).

Collins, however, has no plans to step down. "I'm gonna take another shot at it," he noted.

In 1989 Collins will launch his 30th season with a 168-95-14 overall record.

Church Hoop League Begins Play

The Andover Church Basketball League, which has been in continuous operation for more than four decades, begins play this weekend with games in the Senior (13-15 years), Intermediate Boys' and Intermediate Girls' (10-12 years) Divisions.

There are 34 teams with approximately 375 players involved in the ACBL this year.

Competition will be in four divisions, with the Juniors (8-9 years) rounding out the lineup.

Participating churches include St. Robert Bellarmine, St. Augustine's, Ballardvale United, South and Faith Lutheran.

The Senior, Intermediate Boys and Junior games will be played at the West Middle School gym, while the Intermediate Girls do battle at the West Elementary School.

The Townsman will provide comprehensive coverage of the league once again this winter.

Tennis developed from a handball game played in ancient Greece.

Denise Doran, daughter of Dornis and Barbara Doran of Andover, was a key contributor to the success of the 1988 Plymouth State College women's soccer team. The Panthers compiled a 17-1 record and outscored their opposition 66-2 before being upset 2-0 by Ithaca College in the finals of the New England Division II women's soccer regional. Prior to the Ithaca contest, Plymouth had been rated as the nation's top small college soccer team. A defender for Plymouth State College head coach Phil Rowe, Doran is a 1987 graduate of Andover High School.

Liz Shea Soccer Co-Captain

Liz Shea, daughter of Atty. and Mrs. Andrew F. Shea III of Andover, was elected co-captain of the 1989 Governor Dummer women's varsity soccer team.

Shea, a two-year starter at left wing, has been the second leading point scorer for the past two seasons and this year received honorable mention on the Independent School League All-Star Team.

A graduate of Doherty Junior High School, she was a key member of several championship teams in the Andover Soccer Association.

Pee Wee A's Still Undefeated

The Pee Wee A hockey team continued its streak last weekend as they won two more games. On Friday night they played Wakefield and Andover completely dominated as they easily won by an 11-0 score. In the first minute of play Brian Flanagan scored the first of his three goals with assists going to Dave Wartman and Dan Trede. Later in the period Ryan Moynihan got a pass from Paul Allard at his own blue line and went in and scored on the Wakefield goalie.

In the second period Andover scored six goals to completely blow the game wide open. It began with a goal by Bendan Sheehy and by Brian Flanagan scoring his second goal. They were followed by goals from Paul Allard, Scott Munroe, Richie Enos and a second goal from Moynihan to give Andover an 8-0 lead after two periods. Andover continued its scoring in the third period as Flanagan completed his hat trick near the ten minute mark. Later in the period Andover got goals from Wartman and a second goal by Munroe for th final score of 11-0. Dan Trede and Wartman had three assists each and Allard, Bob Daley and Sheehy each had two assists. Other players receiving assists included Adam Gurry, Danny Hansberry and Munroe. The game marked the fourth time in the young season that Andover goaltender Fred Sunderland recorded a shutout.

On Sunday Andover played Triton at Merrimack College. Triton scored early and led after the first period of play as Andover got off to a very slow start. however, Andover came out strong in the second period and scored five unanswered goals. The goal scorers were Danny Hansberry, Bob Daley, Dave Wartman, Ryan Moynihan and Brendan Sheehy. In the third period Andover scored six more goals as Sheehy started it by scoring his second goal of the game. It was followed by goals from Dan Trede, a second goal by Wartman, Moynihan, richie Enos and Brian Flanagan.

Richie Enos had four assists for the game, Hansberry, Tim McGovern and Trede tow each, and dave Bailey, Flanagan, Munroe and Wartman one each. Although the overmatched Triton team managed just seven shots on net, Andover goalies Phil Smith and Fred Sunderland both played well as they shared goaltending duties.

Winter Sports Underway

The winter sports season has started at Andover High with the ice hockey, boys' and girls' basketball, indoor track, gymnastics and ski teams having launched pre-season practices this past Monday afternoon.

The hockey team has a new coach in Mike Murnane, a former Andover High defenseman who has spent several years as an assistant at St. John's Prep in Danvers.

Tom Ryser (boys) and George Sullivan (girls) are back as hoop coaches.

One administrative change also took place in the high school athletic department this past Monday.

Athletic director Dick Bourdelais shifted over the position of director of physical education, succeeding Dick Swift.

The new AD, replacing Bourdelais, will be Jim Hurley. Hurley had been a physical education teacher and coach at the Doherty Junior High for several years.

Seed Is MVP At Academy

Courtney Seed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Seed of North Andover, has been named most valuable player for offense on the women's soccer team at Governor Dummer Academy. Seed, a senior, was also named to the Independent School League's All-Star team for the third consecutive year.

She scored 19 of the team's 38 goals for the season. The team won or tied the last seven games for a 6-5-2 overall record.

Winning varsity letters for fall sports from Andover were: Rob Ashworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald H. Ashworth, soccer; sophomore Bill Batchelder, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Batchelder, Sr., football; sophomore Adam Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar W. Brown, soccer; sophomore Cathy Burgess, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jordan J. Burgess, soccer; junior Nicolle Fardy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Fardy, field hockey; junior Erin Gurry, daughter of Christopher Gurry, soccer; sophomore Jason LaPointe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. LaPointe, football; juniors Mike Lastrina, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Lastrina, and Jason Male, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce M. Shea III, soccer; and sophomore Chris Troianello, son of Dr. and Mrs. Frank M. Troianello, football.

Lastrina was elected football tri-captain for 1989-90.

Letter winners from North Andover include: junior Danielle Kealler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Kealler, soccer; sophomore Todd Graff, son of Mrs. Jeanne M. Graff, soccer.

Be Alert

"Good or bad weather often depends on one's outlook," noted David J. Christensen, Executive Vice President and Treasurer of the Automobile Club of Merrimack Valley. "For instance, heavy snow may mean a school day off for youngsters but a driving nightmare for motorists."

The AAA official stressed that all road users should be aware of the potential hazards resulting from inclement weather conditions. "Some areas of the United States are known for their balmy winters," he said. "However, for most of us the months of December, January and February are often associated with icy, snowy or rainy days. Any of these conditions may adversely affect the visibility and maneuverability of drivers and pedestrians."

Christensen offered a few tips on bad weather safety. "Drivers need to realize that vehicle stopping distances can be up to 10 times farther on ice than on dry pavement," the AAA spokesperson explained. "Driving speeds should be adjusted accordingly." Christensen also had some advice for walkers. "Pedestrians during this holiday season are likely to be bundled up in coats, scarves, hoods and hats. Their arms may be filled with packages and their hands may be carrying an umbrella. On bad weather days, make certain your vision is not hampered, and take an extra minute or two to assure a safe crossing."

K.C. Jones Tribute Is Benefit

The multi-handicapped children of the Merrimack Valley, who are serviced by the Greater Lawrence Educational Collaborative, will be the beneficiaries of a special testimonial dinner-dance to be held Wednesday, Jan. 25 at the Andover Marriott to honor former Boston Celtics player and coach K.C. Jones.

Jones, a former Andover resident and man who has quietly influenced a number of local athletes through the years, will be Aimee Ross, daughter of Joe Ross and Edith McKinnon of 20 Sherbourne St., Andover, was a member of the Westfield State College women's soccer team this past fall. The Lady Owl booters posted a 10-4-1 record, the most wins in the school's program, and placed second in the Mass. state conference with a 3-1 record. Ross, a senior captain and early childhood major, is a graduate of Andover High School.

Wee Trees

The Peabody Museum of Salem will present Wee Trees, a yuletide look at the area's greenery with Museum Educator Penelope Pennoyer, Saturday, Dec. 10, at 10:30 a.m.

Pennoyer will show children how to shape native greenery and cones into decorative miniature tree ornaments to last through the holiday season.

Registration is required by Dec. 2, $4.50 per person, accompanying adult free. Payment may be sent to the Education Department.

The Peabody Museum of Salem is located at East India Square, Liberty and Essex Streets.

feted by his friends and those members of the general public who wish to meet KC and at the same time help a good cause.

Former Celtic players M.L. Carr, Bob Brannum and Peabody's Rick Weitzman will be on hand for the affair, while Curt Gowdy, Dave Cowens and John Havlicek are other possible special guests.

Among those heading up the K.C. Jones Committee is Andover resident and Lowell High boys' varsity basketball coach Charlie Ryan.

The evening begins with a cocktail hour at 6 p.m. Dinner will be served at 7 o'clock and will be followed by the tribute to K.C. and dancing until midnight.

The goal is to raise funds to acquire the necessary equipment and communication devices that multi-handicapped children require in order to have greater independence.

Jones was a champion at every level, including collegiate at the University of San Francisco, Olympic with the United States team, and professional as both a player and coach of numerous World Champion Celtics teams.

His son, Kip, and daughter, Bryna, also contributed their talents to the Andover High varsity basketball program several years ago.

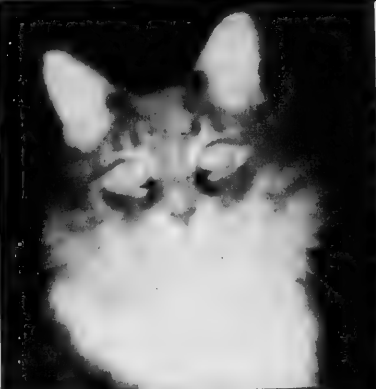

Kip was involved in one of the Golden Warriors' most memorable seasons, playing center for the team that came within a few minutes and points of knocking seemingly-invincible Cambridge Rindge & Latin and 7-foot center Patrick Ewing out of the Eastern Mass. Division 1 Tournament.

This special evening offers a unique opportunity for interested members of the community to share some laughs and memories with Jones and his friends.

The cost per person is $37.50.

Donation checks, which are tax deductible, should be made payable to: "Greater Lawrence Educational Collaborative" (GLEC) and sent to Charlie Ryan, 4 Cindy Lane, Andover, Ma. 01810.

Pee Wee A's Win

The Pee Wee A's skated away with a 5-2 win over Danvers at Tully Forum on Saturday, Nov. 12. Brian Flanagan scored a goal on assists from Dave Wartman and Paul Allard halfway through the first period. Minutes later, Ryan Moynihan scored with assists going to Scott Munroe and Allard.

Danvers narrowed the score to 2-1 in the second period before Brendan Sheehy scored on a pass from Danny Hansberry. Danvers again narrowed the score to 3-2 before Wartman got a pass from Flanagan and scored to make it 4-2. Tim McGovern, with assists going to Moynihan and Munroe, scored in the opening minute of the third period to put the game out of reach.

Andover played Lynnfield at the Ristucia Exposition Center in Wilmington on Sunday. Bob Daley opened Andover's scoring in the first minute of play, assisted by Dave Wartman. Seconds later Scott Munroe scored with assists going to Adam Gurry and Moynihan. Then Wartman fired a shot past the Lynnfield goalie after receiving passes from Dan Trede and Flanagan.

Lynnfield opened the second period by scoring its only goal of the game. Andover scored three more goals. Sheehy started it with assists going to Richie Enos and Daley. Then Trede scored on passes from Wartman and Dave Bailey. Moynihan stretched Andover's lead to 6-1 with Allard picking up the assist. Trede scored an unassisted goal in the third period, making the final score 7-1.

Phil Smith and Fred Sunderland shared goaltending duties for Andover, contributing some fine saves to help ensure the two Andover wins.

Health Care Forum Set

Anna Deane Scott, M. Ed., OTR, Associate Professor - Department of Occupational Therapy, Sargent College of Allied Health will be the featured speaker at Northeast Rehab's "First Tuesday" educational forum.

Professor Scott, a recipient of B.U.'s prestigious Metcalf Award for excellence in Teaching, will speak on "The Influence of Perceptual Problems on Motor Performance." Stroke and head injury can have a major impact on an individual's ability to perform motor tasks. The presentation will include case examples and will be followed by a question and answer period.

Northeast Rehabilitation Hospital, Salem, N.H. has established the "First Tuesday" educational forum for health care professionals throughout the Merrimack Valley. On the first Tuesday of each month an expert in a variety of allied health care topics will address the forum and entertain questions. Continuing Educational Units will be available to all those who attend CEU approved sessions. For additional information or reservations, contact Northeast Rehab.

Jingle Bell Run

It's time to don those sneakers and silly costumes again.

An estimated 3,500 runners will participate in the Jingle Bell Run, which is held annually to benefit Massachusetts Special Olympics, a statewide program of year-round sports training and competition for people with mental retardation.

Founded 11 years ago by marathoner Bill Rodgers, this year's Jingle Bell Run starts Dec. 11 at 6 p.m. at the Exhibit Hall of the Boston Sheraton, Dalton Street.

A post-run gala party will be held at the Sheraton.

Now that Christmas

essary expenditures.

A bill for damages will be given to the town by the lady who claims that a W.P.A. project sliced off a section of her land at the corner of Dascomb road and Andover street without her permission or knowledge.

Four local establishments lost their liquor licenses as far as the selectmen are concerned when the town fathers on Monday night after hearing several persons speak awarded 16 licenses of varying kinds.

It is a possibility that Chief of Police George A. Dane may ask the Methuen youths who ripped up the playstead goalposts after the Methuen game to pay for the damages they did.

25 Years Ago — December 1963

"Lovely Is The Yuletide" is the theme of the standard flower which the Andover Garden Club will hold at the Amos Blanchard Historical House, Main Street.

Santa Claus, that jolly gentleman whose visit is an eagerly anticipated event in the lives of youngsters, will arrive in town aboard a shiny fire engine Saturday.

Good planning and proper land use dictated Town Manager Thomas E. Duff's recommendation that the town secure the Marland Mills. The asking price for the parcel is $195,000.

Robert McIntyre, former chairman of the School Committee, has been named chairman of the School Building Committee.

Officers in the Police Department will seek ballot approval for a $6,300 maximum salary.

The Andover Teachers' Association received grateful acknowledgment from the School Committee when representatives of the Association said there will be no request this year for salary increases.

The town's fire insurance rating, undisturbed for 39 years, may be changed.

10 Years Ago — December 1978

A representative of the State School Building Assistance Bureau has now estimated that it will cost $2.2 million more to renovate East Jr. High than to build an entirely new building.

Proposed tax cap legislation, by which municipalities would be compelled to maintain certain budgetary levels, is having its effect on Andover's budget planning process for the 1979-'80 fiscal year.

Andover municipal employee unions are faced with the prospect of no salary increases until some direction is forthcoming from the state with regard to tax cap or other legislation bearing on local finances.

Approval of construction of a sewer line for proposed expansion of the Raytheon plant in West Andover and attention to altering school construction planning will be the only two items on the agenda at the special town meeting.

Santa Claus was accorded his traditional Andover greeting last Saturday in the annual parade sponsored by the Andover Firefighters.

The refuse collection contractor, South Shore Disposal Services, faces a fine for collection problems experienced by residents these past few weeks.

Hall Proctor David Axelrod, who was given increased student responsibilities in return for an increase in pay this fall, told the school committee Tuesday night that the new "internal" suspension and student work programs are progressing just fine.

Speaker

Dr. Glen A. Bolliger of Andover recently spoke at a seminar for school nurses on "Diagnosis and Management of Common Eye Injuries and Disorders."

The program was sponsored by the Massachusetts Society of Eye Physicians and Surgeons, of which Bolliger is a member, in cooperation with the Massachusetts

School Nurse Organization.

Ophthalmologists from throughout Massachusetts led seminars at five locations in the state and addressed such medical eye health issues as anatomy and red eye.

Elected Vice Pres Of MBA Association

Mascott of Boston, formerly of Andover, was recently elected vice president of Suffolk University's MBA association.

Mascott is a part-time graduate student at Suffolk's School of Management, enrolled in the master's of business administration program. She works at Fidelity Investments. A licensed real estate broker, she was formerly with the Boston Realty Corp.

This fall Mascott received the Herbert U. Nelson Memorial Scholarship for outstanding academic achievements, awarded by the National Association of Realtors. Students of real estate at accredited colleges and universities are eligible for this tri-annual national scholarship. The fund honors Herbert Nelson, who served as NAR's executive vice president from 1922-25.

The MBA Association represents the needs and concerns of graduate students enrolled in Suffolk's School of Management MBA program.

At Weekend

Andover residents Jennifer Lee, Johann Rodriguez, and Armina Thompson attended a Minority Visitation Weekend at Trinity College on Nov. 17-19.

Eighty-five high school seniors from as far as California came to tour the Hartford campus, visit classes, speak with current Trinity undergraduates and alumni, and meet with admissions and financial aid professionals. The College assumed the expenses — including transportation — of these students, more than 20 of whom flew to Hartford for the program.

Invitations to apply for the program were sent to students already identified by Trinity staff as prospective candidates for admission, as well as to students recommended by their guidance counselors.

Babysitting Class Focuses On Disabled Kids' Needs

Area teenagers successfully completed a three-week babysitting course that focused on skills and knowledge needed to provide care for children with disabilities.

The course was developed and conducted by a team consisting of a special education teacher, a physical therapist, an occupational therapist, a nurse and a parent. Organizers said it provided the students with an understanding of various disabilities and instructions in emergency procedures, lifting and positioning children, feeding, behavior management and appropriate play activities.

The Andona Society provided the funding enabling the course curriculum to be written and a manual to be printed for distribution.

Sarah Dziadul and Jenny Bradway watch as therapist Rick Oliver demonstrates how to dress a child who has limited mobility. Oliver was one of several experts who conducted the babysitting course.

Here's a tax tip: donations and medical expenses paid by credit card are deductible the year they are charged, not necessarily when they are incurred or paid off.

Services will be Thursday at 11 a.m. at Caron Funeral Home Inc., 30 Main St. North Andover. Burial will be in Ridgewood Cemetery, North Andover.

Alan K. Porter

Alan Kim Porter, 63, of Evergreen Lane and Lake Sunapee, N.H., died Nov. 28 of brain cancer.

"He was sick for the last seven months, but we had a wonderful summer," said Margot Porter, his wife of 42 years. "He had radiation treatments, but they just made him sicker. Then he decided to do some mind-body things and he did get much better."

"He was so warm and loving. I've never known him to love people so much and to be so open to love as he was this summer."

As they did every year, the family congregated last summer at Lake Sunapee, N.H. It was there that the family tennis competitions took place year after year. "He was the best for a long, long time, but he was a terrific teacher. Different sons and a nephew were gradually able to beat him," Mrs. Porter said.

Born in Boston, Mr. Porter attended Belmont High and was a 1946 graduate of Yale, where he was captain of the hockey team. In 1948, also as captain, he led the Rhode Island Scarlets to the U.S. National Amateur Hockey Championship. In later years, Mr. Porter was a champion squash, tennis and paddle tennis player. He was a member of the Union Boat Club and the North Andover Country Club.

"He was a wonderful athlete," said longtime friend Bill Rockwell of North Andover. "I used to get all jeeped up and excited when we were partners, but Kim never did. He had a calm, peaceful manner that was almost catching. He was a very, very pleasant man."

A man of many interests, Mr. Porter was an expert on steam engines. He also collected antique tools and enjoyed working with wood. "He made some small pieces of furniture and many lovely inlaid boxes," Mrs. Porter said.

Together the Porters enjoyed working with enamel and making silver jewelry. "He really had wonderful mind. He was interested in so many things," Mrs. Porter said.

"He was a very warm, gentle and caring person and he had a great sense of humor," said Alan French of Andover, a friend of 20 years. Besides a healthy competition in paddle tennis, Mr. French enjoyed listening to Dixieland jazz with his friend.

"We've been tennis partners over the years," said Marta Hornidge of Andover. "Many people are good tennis players, but it was the fun of being with him. He was a very modest person, but he had a great sense of words."

"And it was fun talking music with him. He loved music. He told that to occupy his mind when he was driving, he would try to recall as much of a favorite symphony or piece of music as he could," she said.

A hydraulics engineer, Mr. Porter was vice president of H.K. Porter Inc. of Somerville, where he worked from 1950 to 1986. He was an accomplished craftsman and model-maker.

Members of his family include his wife, Margot (Royce) Porter; a daughter, Pamela Porter-Elliott of Temple, N.H.; sons, Whittier of Newburyport, Christopher of Burlington, Vt., and Alan Jr. of Haverhill; a sister, Mary E. Porter of Cambridge; brothers, Henry of Orleans and Thomas of Concord; and three grandchildren.

A memorial service was held Wednesday at the North Parish Church in North Andover. Cremation will take place at Linwood Cemetery, Haverhill.

Memorial contributions may be made to A Better Chance, 134 Main St., Andover, Mass. 01810 or to Hospice, One Union St., Andover, Mass. 01810.

Women, Taxes & Divorce

Recent significant changes in the federal tax laws may affect negotiation of agreements concerning child support, alimony or property settlement. The advice of an attorney familiar with these changes is important so as to ensure that your property is divided in a way which both protects your rights and minimizes your tax liability.

Ladies Of Merrimack To Conduct House Tour

The Ladies of Merrimack College will hold their Christmas house tour Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 3 and 4 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hashem of North Andover.

The Hashem's 10-room Victorian contemporary custom-designed and constructed home will be seasonally decorated by Mrs. Hashem's mother, Shirley Thompson, of Artistic Floral Designs in Reading. This home was chosen for this year's tour because of the creative blending of attractive and livable traditional decor with a functional contemporary design.

The Dec. 3 tour will be from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.; the Dec. 4 tour from noon to 4 p.m.

Proceeds from the tour are used for scholarships to deserving students at Merrimack College. Tickets may be purchased at Walls tal Loft in Salem, N.H., the Andover Flower Shop, Diamond Optometrists in Plaistow, N.H., the Andover Book Store, flowers by Steve in Bradford and Rosebud florist shop in Lawrence.

Tax Tips

The IRS says it's time for forecasting your tax liability. With only about a month left in this calendar year, it's time to check your total tax due and compare it with total expected payments.

"If you know your 1988 tax liability and find that you have been underpaying taxes, you should increase your tax withholding," said District Director Gerard R. Esposito.

To avoid underpayment penalties, 90 percent of 1988's tax or 100 percent of 1987's must be paid by Jan. 15. "If you have income earned by working, you can increase your withholding by completing a new W-4 with your employer. If you are self-employed or have only unearned income, such as interest and dividends, you probably should have been making estimated tax payments," said Esposito.

This last installment should be paid by using declaration voucher 4 found in the Form 1040-ES package "Declaration of Estimated Tax for Individuals."

The original manuscript of Lewis Carroll's Alice's Adventures in Wonderland was sold in 1928 for $75,250.

Kiley lives on Woodhaven Drive with his wife, Linda, and their two children, Erin, 18, a freshman at Simmons College; and Thomas, 9, a student at St. Augustine's School.

A Lawrence native, Kiley attended Temple University in Philadelphia before graduating from Salem State College. He received his law degree from Suffolk University in Boston in 1974 and has been practicing law since.

Although he has always been based in Boston, Kiley has represented many people from Essex County. "I've probably recovered $30 million for people in the Greater Lawrence area," he said.

While admitting his job is really a way of life, Kiley says he enjoys his work. "It's interesting," he said, laughing. "There's never a dull moment."

Budget

Already, a meeting of the full membership of the Finance and School committees and the selectmen is scheduled for Dec. 14. Downs would like to see the groups meet again in the new year to share updated information and arrive at an equitable budget for the town.

The selectmen will also have the opportunity to discuss the budget further between themselves at future work sessions.

The work sessions are good, said Downs, because the regular board meetings doesn't give selectmen "time to sit down and discuss these kind of things."

Middle Schools

Middle school personnel from both Doherty and West attended a one-week workshop in Rhode Island. The objectives were to develop problem-solving skills, team building strategies and action plans related to substance abuse, McGrail said. But the skills learned could be applied to other issues, he said.

The administration also has future activities planned.

There will be a continued look at the middle school curriculum, and special attention will be given to the integration of the sixth grade, Hart said. And an intramural and student activity program will be fully developed.

Team representatives will attend the New England Middle School Conference again this spring, and teachers will visit area middle schools that have model programs.

A 10-session staff development course on middle school key concepts has also been planned as part of the winter in-service offerings, Hart said.

Energy Tips

Massachusetts Electric offers the following tips to help customers stay warm while saving electricity.

- Use insulated curtains or other special energy-saving windows to help reduce heat loss.
- When not using the fire place, close the damper to prevent warm air in the room from escaping up the chimney.
- Open drapes and shades during the day to increase the heating effects of sunlight.

Akimi and Nicholas Valhouli, owners of Petro's
Petro's Seafood Deli

During this holiday season serve your family and guests something unique from Petro's Seafood Deli. Owner Nicholas Valhouli is dedicated to offering the finest and most creative gourmet cuisine. His creations are a treat for the eye as well as the palate. The selection is artistically displayed by Nicholas' wife Akimi. Her tasteful floral arrangements enhance the attractiveness of the large variety of fish.

Both native and exotic seafoods are available. Among them are grouper, yellow fin tuna, red snapper, yellowtail snapper, pampano, spearfish, calamari and octopus. Local varieties include shellfish, sole, flounder, haddock, cod and live lobster. He ships lobsters throughout the continental United States and suggests this as an impressive Christmas present.

There is a large selection of unusual prepared foods including hot and cold pastas, crab and spinach lasagna, soups, international vegetable dishes, Japanese sushi and sashimi, saviche, potato salad and calamari salad. You may create your own original combination and they will be happy to prepare it. All foods are served on the premises or may be taken out. Lunches or appetizer trays can be ordered for business meetings. The specialties change daily. Petro's is available to assist you in planning and preparing catered affairs for office parties, open houses, etc. Petro's may be reserved for a private party for, from eight to twenty diners. Nick promises an unique dining experience.

Petro's Seafood deli is open Monday through Saturday from 9:00 to 7:00. Lunches and light dinners are served daily. They are located at 16 Post Office Avenue, Andover. Telephone: 475-1522. R.C. Bernal

1989 Jetta

Bardetti Volkswagen

Decades ago, Volkswagen revolutionized the entire automotive industry by creating a new set of driving values which changed forever the way we judge an automobile. This dedication continues to this very day, as our German engineers aspire to design and build products that combine contemporary automotive technology with the classic virtues of durability, reliability and quality. The result is an unique combination of performance and practicality that makes a Volkswagen one of the outstanding automotive values in the world. To prove it to yourself, test drive the 1989 Jetta.

The Jetta not only raises your level of driving enjoyment, it also heightens your sense of confidence. When you're behind the wheel of a Jetta, you're firmly in command, not just of the car, but of the road as well. That's because driver control is engineered into the very design of the Jetta. So, when you put your Jetta through its paces, it's reassuring to know that it's working with you.

Our German engineers have thoughtfully endowed the Jetta with a variety of performance features that contribute to driver security. A patented track-correcting rear axle helps keep your Jetta on line during hard cornering. The negative steering roll radius of the front suspension helps keep the car on track should one of the front wheels stray off the road onto a soft surface. The Jetta sports an engineering feature that even some of the most expensive German road cars do not offer: front-wheel drive. You enjoy greater traction and improved directional control in a wide range of weather and driving conditions.

Come see and test drive the Jetta today at Bardetti Volkswagen at 915 South Main Street (Route 125) in the Ward Hill area of Haverhill or call 687-0898 or 374-0711 for more information. Open Monday through Friday from 8:00 to 9:00 and Saturday from 9:00 to 5:00.

Location, Location, Location.

The Merrimack Valley is a great location. It's accessible, vibrant, beautiful and, as a result, it's growing.

The Eagle-Tribune resides in the heart of the Valley. We've seen and shared the growth of our market first-hand. We're the only newspaper able to give complete local coverage and high penetration in the Merrimack Valley.

In fact, 81% of all the adults in our primary market read the Eagle-Tribune every week. This guarantees your ad will be seen by thousands of potential customers in 30 cities and towns across Northern Massachusetts and Southern New Hampshire.* Whether advertisers take advantage of the desirable rates of our selected market zones or a full run, they will certainly benefit from the loyal readership of the Eagle-Tribune, every day.

So, to effectively reach people in the Merrimack Valley, locate your advertising in the Eagle-Tribune. It's been a prime location for many advertisers for over 100 years.

For more information, contact Bill Hoffman,
Retail Advertising Manager,

Maria Reitano with Peter Iannazzo, who has been a customer for twelve years

Kampus Kuts

Tucked away in one of the quiet corners of the Andover Inn can be found a hair salon to match the elegance of its location. Owner Marie Reitano and her staff carefully tend to the needs and desires of her customers. Attention to detail is of the utmost importance. Kampus Kuts may be small in area, but they are big in the knowledge of style, trends and hair products. It is a salon designed for the smallest child to the mature adult, man or woman.

The KMS line of hair care products is available for purchase, as are Sebastian's "Cellophanes". This is a hair coloring technique which causes no side effects, such as skin or eye irritation. It contains no ammonias or peroxides and boasts a hair color with nothing but shine.

Men can get a businessman's dry cut, blow cut, beard and mustache trim. Maria recommends her husband, Sam Reitano, owner of Colonial Hair Styling, for those current with the latest trends, including flat tops, initial carving and Mohawks. Colonial Hair Styling is located at 166 North Main Street, Andover. Telephone: 470-0138.

Appointments may also be made for pedicures by Lillia Zussman.

To find Kampus Kuts, turn right upon entering the Andover Inn and follow the signs. Hours are from 9:00 until 5:00 Tuesday through Saturday. Telephone 470-1544. R.C. Bernal

REAL ESTATE GUIDELINES

Realty U.S.A.
Schruender Real Estate

ARE YOU BUGGED BY BUGS?

Tiny insects can create huge problems when a house is on the market. Whether it's fleas or roaches, they can turn off prospective buyers in a big way. So can the smell of insects.

If you have an insect problem, get it handled before you place you home on the market. Consider calling in a professional who can advise you on the most effective and least toxic way to exterminate your home. If there are children, pets or an expectant mother in your household, be extra careful. If there are lingering bug spray odors, air the house out thoroughly and scrub down the areas that you have treated. Consider replacing moth balls with cedar chips and using boric acid or some other odorless ant and roach killers. If this sounds like a lot of trouble, remember that a single cockroach can frighten off prospective buyers even if they love your house.

If there's a move in your future, the real estate professionals at Realty USA Schruender Real Estate are ready to serve you. Call us at 685-5000 or drop by our offices at 73 Chickering Road, North Andover.

HOMELESSNESS. It's not child's play.

For most of us, the place we call home is something to be treasured.

Yet for the many homeless people throughout New England, "home" is nothing more than a distant dream. At Commonwealth, our dream is that everyone have a place to call home. As a small step toward that goal, we will contribute $50 to the Massachusetts Coalition for the Homeless through WCVB-TV's "Project Shelter" for every approved mortgage application received during December and January.

If you're looking for a home loan, give us a call. Together, we can reach for our dreams.
